Taste a success despite high heat

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Staff Reporter

Hot and humid dog days of summer, coupled with a period of heavy thunderstorms, failed to keep the annual Taste of Antioch/Maxwell Street Days Celebration from being anything less than successful.

"It was very successful despite the heat," commented a pleased Barbara Porch, president of Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry which sponsors the event.

"Overall, the merchants which I've talked with have been very pleased with their sales, especially since the heat was so overwhelming," Porch explained. "Anytime we can create an activity to bring people to Antioch, it's successful. The whole goal for Chamber events is to give people another reason to come to Antioch."

Although the massive shoulder to shoulder crowds were not evident as in some past years, the thousands of celebration goers attended on a more steady flow which created a somewhat more relaxed atmosphere.

"In the evening, the Taste tents were still full, but you didn't have the influx of heavy crowds where people were constantly bumping into one another," observed Porch. "From all of the comments I've received from the Taste businesses, it was one of the most smoothly run Tastes we've ever had."

Porch credits her Chamber 1st vice president, Dede Palmer, who served as Taste chairperson, with doing "an outstanding job coordinating" that portion of the weekend.

"Dede was there hours before it opened in the morning and hours after it closed each day," Porch noted.

Antioch village workers were credited by Porch, a village trustee, with being "extremely supportive and helpful" from the pre-weekend setting up through daily maintenance and closing tear down.

From Mayor Marilyn Shineflug down through Claude LeMere, community development director, Wally Henning of the village public works department, along with Police Chief Charlie Watkins and the department officers as well as Antioch Rescue and Fire Department personnel each played a part.

Porch saw the event as a total team effort and coming together of all facets of the community to have an enjoyable weekend.

Library shows anew

A lot more than literary novels and reference books are available in libraries of today.

Area residents are invited to find out some of the new and unique offerings at the Book Extravaganza for Antioch Public Library District.

The library district is taking the week of Sunday, August 1 through Saturday, August 7, to hold a "celebration" of new materials available.

Library officials are extending "a thank you to the community for its recent support" in addition to showing $50,000 of new offerings.

The week begins with an open house from 1-5 p.m. on Sunday, August 1. Included will be a string quartet playing classical and baroque music, Pockets and Pals clowns doing face painting and creating balloon characters, office tours and self-guided art tours.

Monday, August 2 features Murphy's Paw Puppets from 2-3 p.m. and Small Potatoes guitar and folk music from 7-8 p.m.

Tuesday, August 3 will have Dinosaur Discoveries at 2 p.m. with "Love Your Stuff" redecorating by Laura D'Argo at 7 p.m. D'Argo plans to help guests find "new beauty" in the things which they already treasure. People attending are asked to bring "a treasured item" to share with the group.

Educator Pat Smierka offers a 7 p.m. program Wednesday, August 4 to assist home school educators in developing a curriculum plan for their students.

The Antioch Coin Club is sponsoring a talk on the hobby of coin collecting at 7 p.m. on Thursday, August 5. Attendees will receive a free buffalo nickel.

A walk-in craft show is planned from 9:30-11:30 a.m. on Friday, August 6, and 1-3 p.m. Saturday, August 7. —by Michael H. Babicz

Two charged with felony in wetland vandalism

A 26-year-old man and a teenage female juvenile have been charged with a felony in connection with vandalism done at William E. Brook Memorial Wetland Sanctuary.

The two individuals, Robert Brundage of Antioch and the teenager were arrested July 23 following a tip from an Antioch downtown business employee.

The pair was allegedly observed with a metal bar attempting to pry up boards on the walkway.

Previous reports, dating back to July 18, cited trespassing signs had been removed from their posts and tossed into the wetlands. After those signs were replaced, according to Antioch police, the entire sign post and sign were dug out and tossed into the water.

The two have been charged with criminal damage to state supported property, a felony, and theft.

"The sanctuary is something the community has gotten behind with dollars and volunteer time," explained Antioch Police Chief Charlie Watkins. —by Michael H. Babicz

Fores score for Pride

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Staff Reporter

Golf scores may not have been great, but all proved winners as the 4th Annual Sequoit Pride Golf Outing proved a great success.

Over $13,000 was raised through the 125 participating golfers, school administrators, teachers, community leaders, business people and friends of Antioch Community High School (ACHS), along with nearly 40 raffle donors.

"The participating golfers enjoyed a day of summer sun, camaraderie and exciting golf," said Mimi Denoma, Pride committee member, of the event held at Antioch Golf Club. "The support from the tee, hole, cart and food sponsors, plus the golfers, resulted in a very successful event. We can't thank them enough."

Funds raised will be used during the 1999-2000 school year for various ACHS enrichment programs as Sequoit Pride continues to assist in providing additional funding for the programs.

No "hole in ones" were scored, despite Travel by Design of Antioch in cooperation with Sandals Resorts offering a three-night stay for two at Sandals for an ace on the 18th hole.

Raymond Chevrolet/Oldsmobile offered a one-year lease of a car for a hole in one at the ninth hole, which also failed to be accomplished.

The lunch provided by Century 21 Leech of Lindenhurst and Crichton Rentals of Antioch, and beverage sponsors Coca Cola and Diemer Plumbing, along with the awards dinner following, were both well received.

Intersection stays same

No right turn lane. That is the word from Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT) officials.

Their response came following residents voicing concerns to Lakeland Newspapers regarding continued congestion, especially northbound on Route 59 at Grass Lake Road.

"It wasn't warranted, based on the volumes of traffic," said Catherine Kibble, IDOT project studies manager. "We ran a computer program on the results of the traffic study, and it came up with acceptable levels of service based upon the improvements which were made."

Federal safety funds were used, based upon the determined need for the installation of left turn lanes, explained Kibble.

The Grass Lake Road eastbound right turn lane to go south on Route 59 was requested, and funded, by the Lake County Department of Transportation, according to Kibble. —by Michael H. Babicz

P.M.&L. ends one year, auditions for another

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Staff Reporter

While one season draws its closing curtain, another is already in the works for the P.M.&L. Theatre "Live! On Main Street."

Lie, Cheat and Genuflect, by William Van Zandt and Jane Millmore, opens its final Season 38 show Friday through Sunday, July 30-August 1.

Performances continue week-ends August 6-8, and 13-15. Show times are 8 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays, 2:30 p.m. matinees on Sundays.

For reservations, call 395-3055 or stop at the box office. Box office hours are Monday-Thursday, 5:30-7:30 p.m.; and 11 a.m.-2 p.m. Saturday. The box office opens 90 minutes prior to performance curtains.

Tickets are $10 for adults, $8 for students and seniors. Season tickets including all six shows are $50, adults and $40, seniors and students.

Auditions for the first Season 39 play Broadway Bound, a comedy by Neil Simon, will be held at 7:30 p.m. Sunday and Monday, August 1-2, at the Theatre, 877 Main Street, in Antioch.

Cast members of four men and two women are needed. The play will be performed weekends running Sept. 24 through Oct. 10.

Persons interested in working backstage or on the technical crew are invited to attend an audition.

Mickey Mandel of Antioch will serve as director.

"Lie, Cheat and Genuflect" is considered "a fast moving, hilarious farce" directed by Island Lake's Peter Pintozzi. The cast includes several newcomers to P.M.&L.

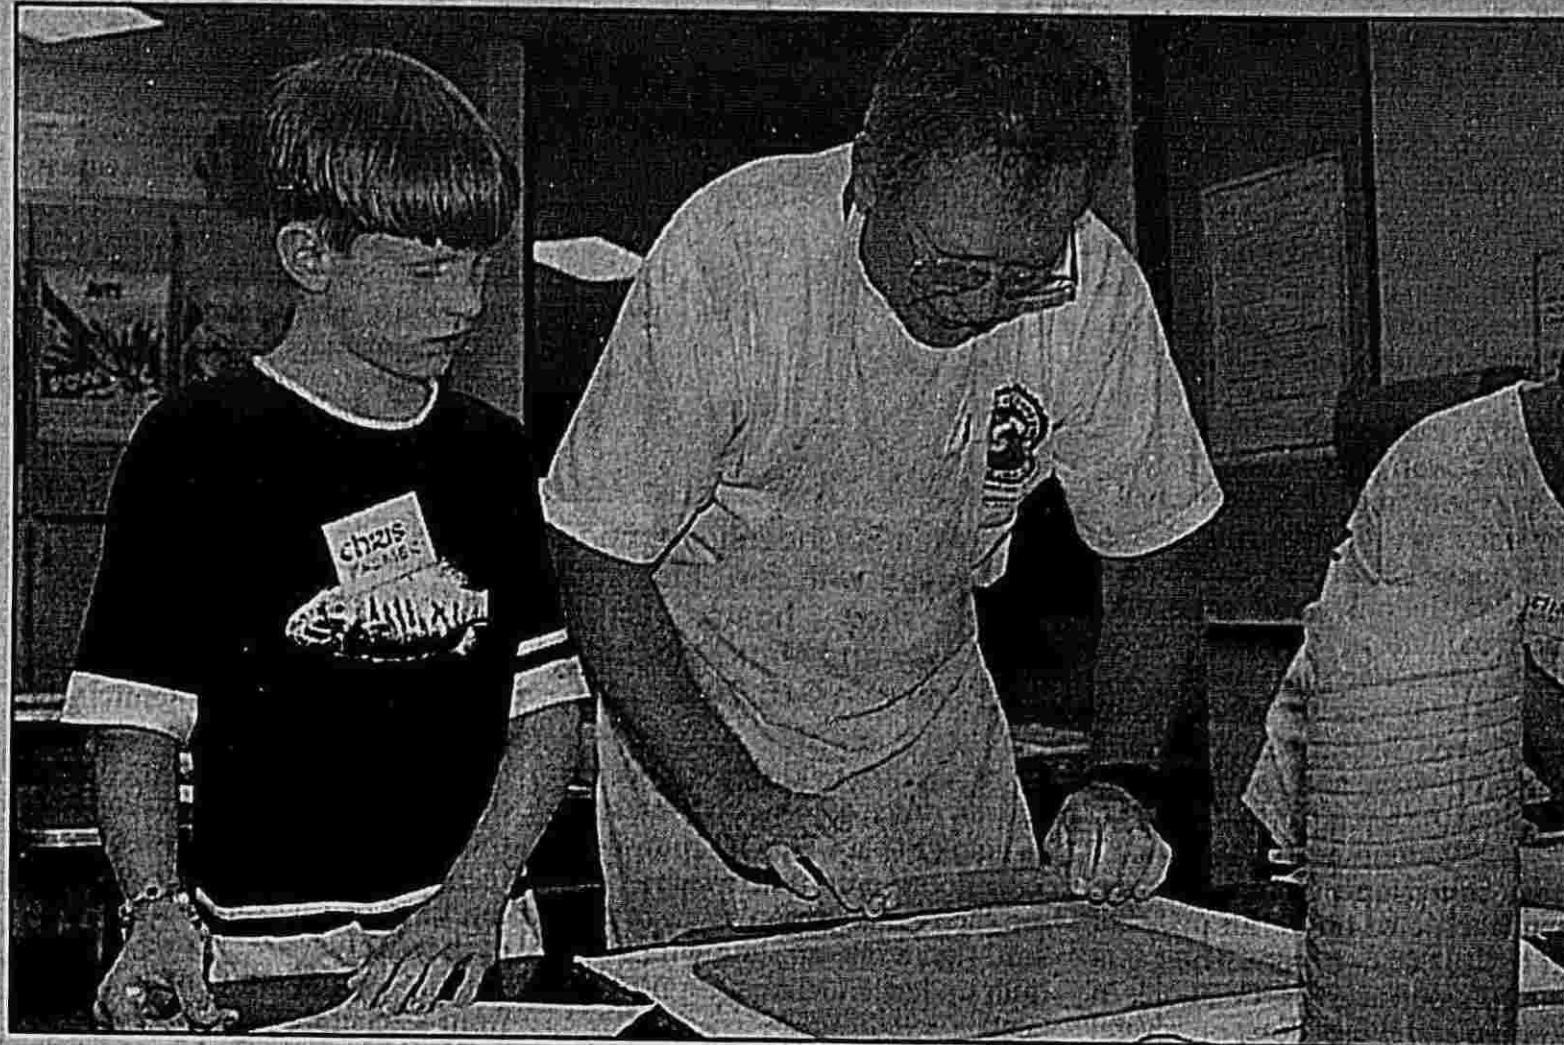

"They perform as a close knit team," according to Pintozzi.

Cast members include Bruce Weise of Richmond and Tom Gorham of Lake Zurich playing Buckle brothers, Billy and Tom, respectively.

Antioch's Fran Jansta is "a stuffy lawyer." Lindenhurst's Dianne Hosken is "the man crazy, inebriated housekeeper." Richmond's Maragh Quinlan, Grayslake's Gina McPherson and Wonder Lake's Natasha Baumgardner are three "beautiful dolls." Lake Villa's Terry O'Brien is the "mobster Pizza Face Petrillo." Zion's Philip Jaeger is also in the cast.

"The combination is a recipe for a laugh packed farce of twists, turns, puns and pratfalls," said Betty Smouse, P.M.&L.'s public relations director. "We invite the fun loving theatre goers to spend a frivolous, laugh filled evening."

For information, phone 395-3055.

Eagle members fly to Ravinia concert

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Staff Reporter

Eagle 50 Travelers Club will have the opportunity to take in the great music of Victor Borge Friday, July 30 at Ravinia in Highland Park.

The group, a new discounted travel program conducted through First National Bank-Employee Owned of Antioch and Gurnee, is offering various discounted travel and entertainment opportunities through being members of the Bank's Eagle 50 and Eagle 50-plus checking accounts.

Club members and a limit of one guest per individual will leave the Antioch bank parking lot at 3 p.m., embarking on the trip which includes a pre-show lecture and dinner at Timber's Restaurant prior to the concert.

Borge is celebrating his 90th birthday with his concert tour this season. Doing double duty, Borge will be playing piano and conducting the orchestra. Audience members will have the pleasure of seeing why Borge is dubbed "clown prince of Denmark" as he interjects his wit and humor throughout the evening's performance.

Price of the tour including the concert, pre show activities and dinner along with deluxe motor-coach transportation and professional export is $83 per person.

For information, contact Nancy Rentner 838-BANK.

Brick orders stop July 31

The deadline for purchasing Bricks For Bill Brook Memorial Walkway is Saturday, July 31.

The walk will run from Orchard and Skidmore Streets through the wetland area.

Orders must be submitted no later than July 31. Bricks range in size from 4" x 8" for $50 to 20" x 20" for $500. An additional charge of $75 is added for a logo. Color is also a possibility.

"If you want to get one for a loved one, your company, a retiring employee, don't waste any time getting your order in," said Ted Axton, chairman of the brick committee.

Persons desiring information or wishing to order a brick can contact Axton at First National Bank-Employee Owned 838-BANK, or stop at the bank's Antioch location, 485 Main Street.—by Michael H. Babicz

The Christian Life Fellowship is presenting a free Child/Youth Health Fair from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. Saturday, August 7 at the church at 41625 N. Deep Lake Road, 1/4 mile north of Route 173, in Antioch.

Several presentations are planned including: 10 a.m. Dr. Paul Lederer on general preventive-developmental optometry; 11:30 Kathy Souhrada "The Wonder of Life;" noon Susan Tracy "Including children in our lives;" 1 p.m. Kimberly Lurvey from New Life Clinic; 2 p.m. Jan Johnson, Herbal Life nutritionist; and 3 p.m. Dr. Mayer Eisenstein, Home First Family Practice.

Activities include Life Source Blood Drive, Dino the Jump-a-saurus, face painting, bicycle safety, youth food booth, teddy bear clinic plus displays of a ambulance from Antioch Rescue, Antioch Fire Department truck and race cars from Wilmet Speedway.

be available. Any questions, call 414-862-2361.

Antioch Public Library is hosting its Book Extravaganza week Sunday through Saturday, August 1 through 7. Check out the article elsewhere in The Antioch News and plan to attend at least one, if not all, of the events geared for the entire family. Questions, call Mrs. LaBuda 395-0874.

PM&L Theatre "Live! On Main Street" is busy getting ready for its fall season. Don't forget auditions for the comedy, Broadway Bound, are being held at 7:30 p.m. Sunday and Monday, August 1-2.

Last show of the current season, "Lie, Cheat and Genuflect," opens Friday-Sunday, July 30-August 1, continuing August 6-8 and 13-15. Friday and Saturday show times are 8 p.m. Sunday matinees 2:30 p.m. For reservations or information, phone 395-3055.

Woman an 'Illinois' Lottery Luckiest

By JACLYN GRAHAM
Staff Intern

Mary Klus of Lindenhurst made the best investment of her life when she bought an Illinois lottery ticket. Through the Illinois' Luckiest instant game, she turned $1 into $15,200 and gained 15 minutes of fame.

Klus won the money playing "Force Field" and "$100,000 Pinball." The show was taped on July 6 and aired on the July 24 edition of Illinois' Luckiest, the only game show produced in Illinois.

"I was a nervous wreck," said Klus. "But it was so exciting." To cheer her on, her husband Wally, her daughter Laura, and Laura's fiancé attended the taping.

The Lindenhurst resident and 17 other contestants from across the state competed on-air for prizes of up to $100,000 or more. The game show is taped at WGN-TV studios in Chicago and is broadcast on several TV stations across Illinois.

It has five main games (with three contestants) that rotate in and out of the weekly lineup, plus the grand finale game, $100,000 Pinball, which all 18 contestants take part in.

Mary Klus of Lindenhurst, center, poses with the 'luckiest' game show hosts, Linda Kollmeyer and Mark Goodman after she won $15,200.

According to Klus, it is predetermined which game each contestant is going to play. For legal purposes, each contestant has to watch a video on each game they are going to play, and sign a release stating that they fully understand the game prior to its start.

Many of the people that Klus works with have told her they saw her on TV.

"I hadn't really watched the game show before," said Klus. "You'd be surprised how many people watch the show though."

Klus played "Force Field," which is described by the Illinois Lottery as follows: "More times than not, The Force is with contestants in this popular money making game that uses a suspended magnetized pendulum and physics to pay out up to $32,500 in cash."

"You had to think a little to play the games," Klus said. "But it was fun." After the taping, Klus and her family celebrated at Bob Chin's Crab House. Klus hopes to travel with her earnings, possibly to Europe.

Illinois lottery players qualify for the show when they scratch-off three TV sets on an "Illinois' Luckiest" instant ticket. Winners fill out the back of the ticket and send it to the Lottery in Springfield. Seventeen contestants are chosen from the 1,500 to 1,800 entries received each week.

The eighteenth spot is drawn from a separate pool of about 150 "25th Anniversary Cash" entry tickets that contain a TV symbol in that ticket's bonus area.

The minimum prize contestants receive is $500 and a chance to compete on-air for as much as $100,000.

Illinois' Luckiest is hosted by Mark Goodman and Linda Kollmeyer. It debuted in August of 1998, and is the latest version of the lottery's TV gameshow that initially debuted in 1989. Since, the Illinois Lottery has awarded game show contestants over $53 million.

In the Chicagoland area, Illinois' Luckiest airs on WGN-TV Channel 9 on Saturdays at 6:30 p.m.

Drawing has winners as construction proceeds

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Staff Reporter

Eleanor Storey of Antioch scored the big win in the Antioch Chamber of Commerce's "Antioch Under Construction" shopping promotion drawing held as part of the Taste of Antioch/Maxwell Street Days weekend celebration.

Storey's ticket, netting her $1,000 worth of Chamber member merchant gift certificates, was pulled from among thousands of entries during the five month promotion.

The winning entry of Storey was submitted while she shopped at Hair Designs Unlimited, one of the 35 Antioch merchants participating in the special construction related promotion.

The program began with several thousand yellow hard hat buttons being handed out to customers at the participating merchants beginning back in March, according to Barbara Porch, Chamber president.

Various businesses in turn had special gifts for persons wearing the buttons, or offered certain discounts as well as special instore drawings.

The highly successful promotion concluded with the drawing.

"We wanted to encourage people to still shop Antioch even though the downtown area was under construction," Porch explained, noting the business owners were extremely pleased with the overall success of the program.

A delay in the contractor's ability to obtain the lamp posts from the manufacturer is the reason the light poles will not be installed until sometime in August.

The Community Action Now (CAN) raffle, also concluded during the weekend, had Taso Maravelas the big winner with the $5,000 first prize. Winners of $200 each were Ted and Vicki Axton, Dennis Deboer, Larry Fales, Janice Fenske and Dennis Hockney.

Raffle proceeds help further CAN programs and activities within the Antioch community.

Agency Of The Year Award presented to Osmond Insurance Service, Ltd.

976 Hillside, Antioch, Illinois 60002
847-395-2500

In recognition of outstanding professional performance in servicing the insurance needs of their policyholders, their community, and their company, the Robert T. Tebben Agency of the Year Award has been presented to this superior insurance agency. This professional agency has met the unusually high qualifications of the award in competition with Pekin Insurance agencies in the State of Illinois.

This award honors the late Robert T. Tebben, who in his over 50 years of service to the Company, contributed more than any other single individual to the present success of the Company. He believed that all Pekin Insurance agencies should strive to be Full Circle Service Agencies which provide a full range of service to their customers. POLICE BEAT

Persons charged with a crime are innocent until proven guilty in a court of law.

ANTIOCH

Revoked License

Mitchell A. Young, 37, of Lake Villa was stopped by Antioch Police at 1:19 a.m. July 27 and charged with improper lane usage and driving while on a revoked license.

Warrant Arrests

Robin L. Files, 33, of Antioch was arrested by Antioch Police at 8:17 a.m. July 22 on an outstanding warrant from the Lake County Sheriff's Department for forgery in the $50,000 range.

Anthony Taddel, 32, of Antioch was arrested at 1:53 p.m. July 17 by Antioch Police through the assistance of a local business on two outstanding warrants. Taddel was wanted by Kane County and Lake County authorities, both on driving under the influence charges. Taddel's warrants were discovered when he failed to produce a driver's license during a routine hiring process at the business.

LAKE VILLA

DUI

On July 16 at 2:54 a.m., an officer found a 1997 Pontiac Sunfire convertible in Oakland Ridge Subdivision after it had struck a concrete light pole. The car's windshield was flattened, both air bags were deployed, and the front end was in a v-shape, having been crushed upon impact. No driver or occupants were in the immediate area of the crash. Another officer found the driver, E. 26, of 1533 S. Green Bay Road Apt. 208 in Racine Wisc., lying on a driveway of Pasqueneil Homes. Although he had the car's keys on him, Buckhouse said he was in an accident but denied driving. He had walked away from the scene looking for help but was in too much pain to continue. The Lake Villa Rescue Squad was called to treat his injuries, and they took him to St. Therese hospital.

At the hospital, Buckhouse was cited for criminal damage to property (the light pole), reckless driving, and DUI (.149 BAC). He was given a notice to appear in court on August 13 at 9 a.m. in Waukegan.

Minor possession of alcohol

On July 17 at 5:35 p.m., Jacob Carl Bartusch, 19, of 1400 Emdale Court in Milwaukee, Wis., was arrested for minor possession of alcohol. He had a total of 41 Scope mouthwash bottles filled with a rum/Scope mixture and a Gatorade bottle half full of rum/Scope mixture.

in his car. He was processed at the LVPD and a $75 cash bond was taken. His court date is August 11 in Grayslake.

On July 23 at 2:39 a.m., Matthew R. Johnson, 18, of 36252 N. Falcon Dr. in Ingleside, was charged under local ordinance with possession of alcohol by a minor. He had a 40oz. bottle of Miller Genuine Draft with him in his parked car. Johnson's court date is August 11 in Grayslake.

Traffic arrests

On July 18 at 5:50 a.m., Anthony Hernandez, 43, of 326 Carendon Dr. in Round Lake Beach was cited for improper lane usage and driving with no valid drivers license. His court date is August 11 in Grayslake.

On July 21 at 2:30 a.m., Sidney W. Brooks, Sr., 42, of 11405 276th Ave. in Trevor, Wisc., was arrested for speeding (52 in a 35), improper lane usage, driving on a revoked license, street DUI, and DUI (.18 BAC). Her was given a $3,000 I-Bond with court date of August 13 in Waukegan.

Ordinance violation/soliciting

At 8:25 p.m. on July 19, Amie Lynn Shak, 19, of 6944 250th St. in Salem Wisc., was cited for soliciting in the Apache Trail area in a Polar Bear Ice Cream Inc. truck. She was taken to the LVPD and issued a notice to appear in court on August 11 in Grayslake.

Intoxicated pedestrian

On July 20 at 8:06 p.m., Curtis Daniel Maier, 34, of 38802 N. Wilton in Lake Villa, was cited as a pedestrian under the influence of alcohol on the 200 block of Central Ave. Maier said he had been drinking and went there thinking an old acquaintance still lived there. The complainant did not wish any trespassing charges against the offender. Maier's court date is August 11 in Grayslake.

Traffic stop/assist police

On July 22 at 1:19 a.m., Brian E. Smith, 26, of 235 Sunset Court in Vernon Hills, was cited for expired registration and having no valid insurance. However, he was initially pulled over on an investigative stop because of the time that he pulled into a Lake Villa home's driveway, shut off the car's lights, sat there without anyone exiting the car, and then drove away.

While the police officer was speaking with Smith, the passenger, Sachiko Husko, 46, of 150 S. Lake St.

in Mundelein, jumped from the back seat of the car yelling 'help me, he won't let me go,' and ran to the police unit. According to the victim (Husko), Smith went to her house in Mundelein acting crazy, and tried to get her into his car, and after she refused, he picked her up and threw her into his car and would not let her go.

Husko thanked the LVPD, saying she feared for her life and that they saved her. Smith posted his drivers license as bond at the LVPD and has a court date of August 11 at 3 p.m. in Grayslake. Mundelein police took both Smith and the victim from the LVPD to the Mundelein police station, as a case of unlawful restraint.

LINDENHURST

Driving while license suspended

Walter Erickson, 34, of Lake Villa, was arrested Sunday, July 25 at 7:29 a.m. on Grand Avenue west of Munn Road with speeding, failure to wear seatbelt, uninsured vehicle, and driving while license suspended. Erickson will have a Grayslake court date of September 1.

John L. Ward, 37, of Lake Villa, was arrested Thursday, July 22 at 9:30 p.m. at Grand Avenue west of Sand Lake Road with suspended registration, no headlight, and driving while license suspended. Ward will have a Grayslake court date of September 1.

Driving while license revoked

Michael A. Starcevic, 30, of Chicago, was arrested Wednesday, July 21 at 12:58 a.m. at Granada and Genoa with no insurance, expired registration, and driving while license revoked. Starcevic will have a Grayslake court date of September 1.

Hats off to local singer

By JACLYN GRAHAM
Staff Intern

On August 30, a former Lake Villa resident of 22 years will take the field at Comisky Park. Instead of playing ball, Cathy Landgren will be singing the national anthem prior to the White Sox/Seattle Mariners twi-night doubleheader.

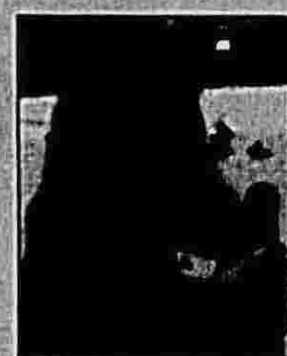

Although no longer living in Lake Villa, she still works in the village at Allendale in the residential department, where she has been employed for almost nine years.

"I've been singing since I was a little girl," said Landgren. She was in the College of Lake County chorus for 12 years, and currently sings with the Waukegan Symphony Chorus. As a member of the Waukegan Symphony Chorus for 14 years, she has been in many exciting performances, including at Carnegie Hall. Landgren also sings acapella for weddings.

Also, Landgren has been singing the national anthem regularly at Wilmot Speedway in Wisconsin for a couple of years. At Wilmot Speedway, one of the largest crowds she sang for totalled about 5,000 people.

Last weekend though, Landgren spoke in front of an even larger crowd at Road America, an international event at Elkhart Lake, Wis. There, she sang both the national anthem and "Oh Canada" for the first time. She had to do them back to back while standing out on the track as usual.

Landgren:
Singing anthem
for Cubs

"Elkhart Lake was quite an experience," said Landgren. She thinks it will help her ease her mind for the White Sox pregame performance.

"I am a little bit more nervous about the Sox game," Landgren said. "I have to go out there and just think that I'm at Wilmot."

Her opportunity to sing at the White Sox game was a result of the demo tape that she made in June. She sent her tape to sports teams like the Cubs, White Sox, Bears, and Brewers. The Cubs responded within two days of receiving the tape, and the Sox took about a week to reply. Keep your eyes and ears open for this local rising star!

Kids, Adults Do Their Own Thing At Disney World

by JIM WARNKEN,
President, North Star Travel, Inc.

A visit to Disney World may be the best family vacation. However, sometime during that week, mom and dad may dream for a day (or at least a couple of hours) of enjoying the park on their own.

Disney's got that covered!

Kids up to age 12 can take part in a unique "Learning while playing" developmental program at Disney's "KinderCare" while their parents do their own thing. KinderCare is open 6 AM to 8 PM daily. Space is very limited, so call ahead (407-827-5437) for reservations.

For the real little ones, KinderCare also offers in-room baby-sitting. You, of course, must be staying at an on-site Disney hotel. Call them with a 24-hour notice at (407) 527-5444.

The older kids (10-15 years) can take part in a hands-on, behind-the-scenes Disney experience at the "Wonders of Walt Disney World" school. The six-hour classes include instruction and special access to the park's backstage areas. Reservations can be made by calling (407) 354-1855.

Disney's "Kidventure", open to 8-14 year olds, offers an introduction to ecology, plant adaptation and animal behavior at Discovery Island, Disney's nature preserve. During the summer it's offered on both Wednesday and Sunday mornings. The rest of the year the program is only offered on Wednesdays. Make reservations at (407) 824-3784.

Mom and dad are sure to want to visit Disney's exciting adult playground once the parks close for the day. Don't worry, Disney has plenty of night programs for the kids, too. The 4 to 12-year-olds can enjoy their own dinner show at "The Neverland Club" from 5 PM to midnight. The theme is, of course, Peter Pan and includes a buffet of kids' food along with the live show.

The Disney's Grand Floridian Contemporary resorts offer the Mouseketeer Clubhouse, where, for only $4.00 per hour, your 4 to 12-year-olds can play all kinds of games (video as well as the old-fashioned kind).

Disney's Yacht and Beach Club has a similar program called the "Sandcastle Club". Disney hasn't limited these special programs just to the kids. Adults can take part in Disney's "Learning Adventures", which give more in-depth look into educational exhibits of Epcot center.

For the ultimate Disney experience for the whole family, ask your travel agent about the Disney Institute at Disney World.

A toddler tragedy barely avoided in the boiling heat

It was Sunday and mom was tending her household chores while dad was next door helping a neighbor. As often is the case on these summer days, the resident toddler was busy watching bugs crawl across the patio, and pushing sand toys down the slide. Mom was content that Ms. Toddler was occupied with dad, while dad was convinced Ms. Toddler was helping, mom.

It is a common occurrence, and in no way a direct reflection of bad parenting skills; we have all fallen victim to this predicament during our parenting days. These situations usually resolve themselves without incident, and rarely is there cause for alarm. Well, on this particularly warm afternoon, there was a little panic in mom and dad when they realized neither had watch over their offspring. A search began and upon seeing the van sliding door slightly ajar, mom flung it open to find her little one lying on the floor whimpering, drenched in her own sweat and tears.

Mom luckily knew the appropriate measures to use to revive her child who had been in the van about 45 minutes. The toddler had wanted a sucker and knew mommy kept some in the van. Being innocent to the hazards of scorching temperatures and confined spaces, she crawled into the unoccupied vehicle to get herself one. Why bother mommy or daddy, I'm a big girl and can't get it myself, was probably her thought.

JINGLE FROM PRINGLE

Unfortunately, not even being 4 years old, she was able to open the van door from the outside to get in, but once she was inside, and the door shut behind her, she was unable to open the door to get back out. Mom's convinced an angel was watching over them that day, and a near tragedy had been avoided. She had always thought of herself as a good mom, and in all probability, she is, and she never dreamed this could happen to her closely supervised child. It terrified her to the point that she felt obligated to warn any unsuspecting parents who never gave this situation a thought.

Nowadays most new vehicles are equipped with child protection doors, which, when this feature is engaged, means the back doors of a car and the sliding doors on a van cannot be opened from the inside. So, even if a child is strong enough to open the door, they may be physically unable to because of this device.

As parents we need to teach our children to climb up to the front seat and try opening the passenger side door, especially if your car is parked in the street. This way the child will exit the vehicle on the curb and not into traffic. If they are physically unable to open a door, you should teach them how to beep the horn until someone comes to their aid.

On a hot sunny day, it doesn't take long for the interior of a vehicle to reach inhumane temperatures. The heat can take its toll on a small child. Accidents happen to all of us, fortunately this one turned out shaky, but happily and this very concerned mom wanted to pass along a word of advice to the good folks in Antioch.

Please, please teach your children, in the event they ever get trapped in the car or van, how to get out safely, or sound an alarm until help comes. You can bet there is no more candy in that mom's van.

And so goes another "Jingle from Pringle."

Readers with information for "Jingle from Pringle" should call Lynn Pringle at 395-6364.

Nuclear inspector at Zion plant becomes law

Governor George Ryan signed legislation, sponsored by State Representative Tim Osmond, providing state inspectors access to closed nuclear power plants.

According to Osmond (R-62 Antioch) the legislation is vital in preventing a post operational nuclear disaster in our community and statewide.

Under the new law the state can assign an inspector to any nuclear power plant that has ceased operation. The inspector would have the same access to the plant as the Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC), but would not have to live on the premises. The inspector would identify deficiencies at the plant and make sure they are corrected.

"The Zion Nuclear Power Plant may be closed, but that does not mean all danger has ceased," said Osmond. "We have seen in past disasters the damage nuclear power is capable of. With this new law the state can ensure regulation of closed nuclear plants that will help prevent potential catastrophe."

Other legislation sponsored by Osmond, and recently signed into law by the Governor includes:

An increase in the time period in which all motor vehicles must exhibit lighted headlamps. Previously one hour after sunset to a half an hour before sunrise, the new law is from sunset to sunrise.

The creation of the Recycled Content Products Study Act and creates a task force to perform the study. The task force will consider establishing various marketing programs aimed to promote the use of products containing recycled material. The results of the study will be reported to the General Assembly no later than Jan. 1, 2000.

YMCA says take sunscreen, common sense, to the water

Thousands of Chicagoans will flock to pools, ponds and lakes this summer. In addition to sunscreen they should take with them some crucial safety precautions says the YMCA, because negligence of safety rules can spell danger in places of summer fun and relaxation.

"The water is the perfect place to relax, beat the summer heat and have fun with the family," says Tino Mantella, president of the YMCA of Metropolitan Chicago. "It is important to make sure your entire family knows how to be safe in and around the water."

The U.S. Centers for Disease Control lists drowning as seventh among all injury-related accidents in the United States but second for children and teenagers. YMCAs, which have been teaching swimming and water safety in this country for more than a hundred years, emphasize five basic precautionary measures to ensure safety in and around the water.

*Lake County student enjoys Bahaman 'lifetime experience'
on Shedd Aquarium research vessel*

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Staff Reporter

A newspaper article in a small Wisconsin town led to an Antioch teen's spending a week on a research vessel in the Bahamas this summer.

Lila Kate James, 15, who will be an Antioch Community High School (ACHS) sophomore in the fall, was selected to be one of 30 students chosen to participate in the High School Marine Biology Program (HSMB) out of 100 candidates for the Shedd Aquarium-based experimentation and research program.

James, following a lengthy selection process, was the only student from Lake County out of those selected to participate in the three-phase HSMB.

Stage one was attending seven days of 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. classes downtown at Shedd. James had a visiting student from LaCrosse, Wis. staying at her parent's home and making the train and bus commute to Chicago each day.

Following the completion of the classes, the 30 students were divided into three groups of ten. Joining the students on the trip aboard the RV (Research Vessel) Coral Reef II, owned by Shedd Aquarium, were two Shedd advisors, a cook and two boat captains.

"They were all great," James said of the staff and her fellow students.

The excursion began after a flight into Miami, following a day spent doing some last-minute grocery shopping and getting all of their gear and baggage aboard the vessel.

Each day began early with a 6:50 a.m. wake-up call for breakfast. The first day proved a little challenging to all of the students.

"Everybody got seasick," chuckled James. "The first morning when we crossed the gulf stream. After that, it was okay because we got used to it."

The Coral Reef II was based off Bimini island in the Bahamas. Each day, the excursion would go out to various small islands which normally do not appear on maps.

The 12-16 hour day was spent doing some form of research projects, for which the students were divided into pairs.

"A lot of it was identifying fish, gathering and collecting fish," James explained. "One night we were up until 1:30 in the morning, and they were nice enough to let us sleep an extra hour the next day."

The group lived on the boat. "It was pretty tight quarters, but we managed and it was still fun," said James.

"We also would study plankton, tied pools, and we compared sandy beaches to turtle grass areas and communities," James continued.

One of the most outstanding memories for James was the night snorkel dive.

"We were joined by four logger head turtles, who weren't bothered by us at all," James recalled with a smile. "They came right up to us and were so sweet and gentle. They let us pet their heads."

For James, snorkeling and diving were not something new. She is a certified scuba diver, having gone several times while on family vacations.

"It was not new, but it was still really cool," admitted James. While in the water, which usually included at least three snorkel dives per day, James encountered four different species of sharks and several barracudas—including one 5-foot long.

"As long as we left them alone, they left us alone," James explained, noting she was never frightened.

STAGE REVIEW

Hamlich, symphony work magic at Ravinia Festival

The Ravinia stage brightened with "From Hollywood to Broadway" during a special performance of the Chicago Symphony under guest conductor Marvin Hamlich. The heady program included selections of his songs and film scores, including "The Way We Were" and the show-stopping "A Chorus Line." Hamlich dedicated "Sophie's Choice" to the memory of John F. Kennedy Jr., whose tragic disappearance was just making headlines.

Soprano Jan Horvath drew a standing ovation for her rendition of "Don't Cry for me Argentina" from Andrew Lloyd Webber's "Evita." Other good work came from Gary Mauer and Doug Labrecque: "Bring Him Home" from "Les Misérables" and "Music of the Night" from "Phantom of the Opera."

Other rousing numbers included "All That Jazz" from "Chicago" and a romantic balcony scene number from "West Side Story."

The Ravinia Festival Orchestra will present a "Modern Broadway" concert with music from "Miss Saigon," "Rent," "Lion King," and "Ragtime."

And classical music lovers still have several opportunities to hear the Chicago Symphony at the Ravinia Festival, including "Classical Music's Greatest Hits" on July 29, with Victor Borge on July 30 with "Barto's Rachmaninoff." In addition, the symphony will concentrate on Brahms, Mahler, Mozart and Tchaikovsky at various programs in August.

Popular programs will feature Donna Summer, Aug. 15; Al Jarreau, Aug. 20; The Temptations, Aug. 26; Natalie Cole, Aug. 27 and Tony Bennett, Aug. 28. Ticket information is available at (847) 266-5100.

A genuine $100,000 denomination bills will be part of the U.S. Treasury Department's "Billion Dollar Display" during the 1999 American Numismatic Association's World's Fair of Money®, Aug. 11-15, at the Rosemont Convention Center.

Got change for a hundred-grand?

The U.S. Treasury Department will have a $1 billion public exhibit, Aug. 11-15 at the World's Fair of Money® in the Rosemont Convention Center, 9301 W. Bryn Mawr, Rosemont.

But it won't cost a red cent to see a billion bucks. The World's Fair of Money is free and open to the public. The event is conducted by the non-profit American Numismatic Assoc., (ANA), the world's largest collector organization devoted to coins, paper money, tokens and medals.

The U.S. Mint will display its new fifty states commemorative quarters and preview the new one-dollar coin for the new millennium. The Bureau of Engraving and Printing (BEP), the Treasury agency that prints all U.S. paper money, will have a $1 billion exhibit of colorful currency. Among the items displayed will be poster-sized printing press sheets of genuine $100,000 denomination bills and a $500 million Treasury bond.

"Although you can't purchase a $100,000 bill, the BEP will sell special souvenirs, such as uncut sheets of crisp, new $1, $2 and $5 bills. Some people actually use them to wrap gifts," explained Mary Halsall, BEP Public Affairs Representative.

In addition to the buying and selling on the convention floor, there will be a public auction of high quality rare coins and paper money conducted by Heritage Numismatic Auctions Inc. of Dallas, TX, the ANA's official auctioneer for this event.

The World's Fair of Money, in Hall F at the Rosemont Convention Center, will be open Wednesday to Saturday, August 11-14, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Sunday, August 15, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. For additional information, call the ANA at 800-367-9723 or visit their web site at www.money.org.

HOROSCOPE

Aries - March 21/April 20

Don't hold a grudge against a friend who makes a mistake early in the week. He or she doesn't mean to cause you any trouble. A loved one needs your help with a family matter. Do what you can for him or her. Your efforts definitely will be appreciated. Cancer plays a key role on Tuesday.

Taurus - April 21/May 21

This is your week for romance, Taurus. The person whom you've been seeing wants to intensify the relationship. Say yes — you know that this is what you've been waiting for! A close friend needs someone to talk to late in the week. Be a good listener, and try to be supportive.

Gemini - May 22/June 21

You're on the go early in the week. Try not to get frazzled. The only way that you're going to get things done is by staying calm. So, take a deep breath, relax and get to work. Don't worry — things will calm down by the end of the week. A loved one asks you an important question on Thursday. Be honest with him or her.

Cancer - June 22/July 22

You end up being the center of attention at a business meeting this week, Cancer. Don't be embarrassed. You deserve the spotlight. However, don't let this go to your head. You still have to work diligently. A friend needs your help with a financial matter. Don't get involved.

Leo - July 23/August 23

A close friend introduces you to an interesting person early in the week. Don't be nervous. Try to get to know him or her better, because this could be the one. A business associate needs your help with a project. Do what you can for this person, but don't let him or her take advantage of you. Sagittarius plays a key role on Friday.

Virgo - Aug 24/Sept 22

A quarrel with a loved one has you walking on pins and needles. Don't put yourself through this. Just talk about the disagreement with him or her. It's the only way to get things back to normal. An old friend calls you out of the blue late in the week. Catch up with him or her; you're sure to learn some interesting information.

Libra - Sept 23/Oct 23

Even though you want to help, try not to get into the middle of a fight between two close friends. Your involvement only will make things worse. They need to work this out on their own. That special someone has a surprise for you on Thursday. Enjoy!

Scorpio - Oct 24/Nov 22

You find out some wonderful news this week, Scorpio, and want to tell everyone you know about it. However, this isn't the time. Keep it to yourself until the right moment. A loved one asks for your advice about a financial matter. Give him or her your honest opinion.

Sagittarius - Nov 23/Dec 21

Don't let your temper get the best of you this week, especially when you have a run-in with an acquaintance. Getting angry only will make the situation worse. Try to stay calm. A good friend invites you out to dinner late in the week. Say yes, because he or she has something important to share with you.

Capricorn - Dec 22/Jan 20

Stand your ground when it comes to an important decision. Others try to sway your opinion, but you shouldn't let them. You have to do what's best for yourself. The person whom you've been seeing calls it quits. While you're upset, don't let it get you down. You know that he or she isn't the one for you.

Aquarius - Jan 21/Feb 18

Don't read too much into a friend's actions early in the week, Aquarius. This person doesn't have a hidden agenda. Overanalyzing what he or she does only will cause problems between the two of you. A loved one asks a favor of you. Do what you can.

Pisces - Feb 19/March 20

Don't make light of a loved one's problem this week, Pisces. He or she is in a serious situation and needs your help — not your humor. Be there for him or her. That special someone needs to talk to you this weekend. It's nothing to get nervous about.

Big house, small scares in 'The Haunting'

For a movie that was supposed to be scary, I certainly wasn't pulling the covers over my head while trying to fall asleep after watching it.

I didn't have any ghost-related nightmares, nor did I feel the need to sleep with the lights on. The Haunting did little to scare me.

Three unsuspecting people are brought to Hill House as part of an insomnia research project by Dr. David Marrow (Liam Neeson). The old, stunning mansion, with its spooky statues and dark, foreboding hallways, welcomes the guests with open (and evil) arms.

The three are an interesting mix: Theo (Catherine Zeta-Jones) is a fashion-conscious woman whose sexuality is hinted at as she shoots flirtatious glances at Nell (Lili Taylor). Nell, a wallflower-type woman, seems to have an eerie connection to the haunted house. Rounding out the group is Luke (Owen Wilson), whose surfer-boy looks and quirkiness add a little humor. And is that a broken nose or is it just me?

The group's first scary (and humorous) encounter is with the house's caretakers, the Dudleys (Bruce Dem and Marian Seldes), who are quick to inform the trio about the need for chains on the gate and the fact that nobody in the nearby town will be able to hear their screams if something goes wrong during the night.

The Haunting

After settling into their spacious, spooky chambers, the ghost stories begin. Marrow, who is really doing research on fear and not insomnia, informs the trio of the house's history. The house has a Taj Mahal-esque history, built by Hugh Crain 130 years ago for his wife and the children they would never have. It seems his wife never carried any of their children to term, and she ended up dying an early death.

Marrow is trying to provide the foundation for fear. However, much to his dismay, things really start to go bump in the night. Thumps on the walls and doors, as well as the extreme chill in the air, send both Theo and Nell into a panic. Things get even scarier when, scrawled in blood on the life-size portrait of Hugh Crain, are the words, "Welcome home, Eleanor." Nell's real name, by the way, is Eleanor. Spooky.

Everyone denies writing the words on the wall. Nell is suspected, as her cohorts begin to think she wrote on the wall as a way to get attention. Not so, says Nell. Marrow wants proof. Well proof he shall get.

Even more spooky goings-on begin to occur, as Nell gets drawn further into the web of the house's history. While she is lying in bed, the wall's sculptures of cherubic children turn all eyes to Nell. Okay, this part scared me.

The scariest part of the movie, however, comes after Nell begins to find out more about the bad things that happened in the house. An incident in the house's huge fireplace scared everyone in the theater, myself included. I wanted to jump right out of my seat and scream.

Unfortunately, however, that was the only truly scary part of the movie. After awhile, the special effects began to remind me of that other supposedly-scary movie, The Mummy. The effects became almost obnoxious, culminating in the appearance of a rather ugly, dark mass which was supposed to be the ghost of Crain.

With all the money spent on this film, I thought the ending scene would be exciting. Instead, Nell shouts cheesy lines at "Crain the digital ghost." Sorry, but that is not my idea of scary.

The movie left me wondering about a few things, too. First of all, why was Zeta-Jones even in the movie? She really provided no substance. The opinion of several of us here in the office is that Zeta-Jones was in the movie just for looks. Not to mention the actor who played Luke had a broken nose, which at times I found myself concentrating on more than the movie itself.

Second, why was it hinted that Theo was bisexual? What relevance does that have to the story? The audience gets to see Theo hitting on Nell. Then, all of a sudden, that part of the story isn't discussed anymore. So what was the point of it all?

Third, during a discussion about purgatory, Nell said she spent 10 years there. This is never explained during the movie.

For what it's worth, The Haunting does provide entertainment, a couple of good scares, and a few funny lines. The acting could definitely have been better. Zeta-Jones should stick to action flicks such as The Mask of Zorro and Entrapment. The person who really worries me is Neeson, who appears to have made some really bad career moves lately. First it was the Star Wars prequel flop. Now it's The Haunting. I hate to think of what lame film project he'll waste his time on next.

Director Jan De Bont, whose credit list includes Twister and Speed, should have focused more on trying to scare the audience in his adaptation of Shirley Jackson's The Haunting of Hill House rather than trying to wow them with special effects.

If it's a true scary movie you're looking to spend your money on, rush to the theater to see the eagerly-awaited Blair Witch Project. I'm sure that movie will be able to provide you with the scares you're looking for.

I give The Haunting two and a half popcorn boxes out of five.

TRAVEL AND VACATION

July 30, 1999

Lakeland Newspapers / B10

Hanging Loose to Hana and Back

My wife, Fran, and I went to Maui in June for a short vacation and also, more importantly, to attend the wedding of a couple of good friends. We had planned to go to the Hawaiian Islands for our 25th wedding anniversary next year, but decided to move the trip up and combine both events.

The day of the wedding, being a day before we leave this tropical paradise, I decide to squeeze in one more vacation memory by taking on the infamous "Road to Hana."

Veteran Road to Hana travelers and islanders call it Divorce Highway. As new explorers we would soon test this moniker.

The trip from Kahului Airport typically takes about three hours, one way, to cover a little more than 50 miles.

My wife reluctantly rides shotgun in our 4-door Chevy Cavalier rental car that will transport us during our, or should I say my quest. It is the one place on the island where rental car companies forewarn all not to go. Fran tells me in very logical terms how this all important wedding will be at 4 p.m. and how there will not be enough time to make it to Hana and back. Not to fret, I assure her that we will not go all the way to road's end, but will turn around once a sufficient amount of exploring has been accomplished.

So it is with a big tallyho that we head off in the direction of Hana.

Along this road, officially labeled Route 360, are the sights and smells of a rain forest, only safer, as we come across not one wild animal. The vegetation is green, thick and almost completely unspoiled by the human species.

As we come upon the halfway point to Hana, a rest stop with several portable toilets, Fran expresses that now would be a good time to break and then start our journey back to our hotel room in order to get back in time for the wedding. But there is still plenty of time, I opine. We have only come half way and the best is probably in the second half, why not just go a little further?

Without much further discussion and in full control of the keys to the rental I pull out of the wayside back onto the road to Hana, continuing on to what surely will be an unforgettable odyssey.

After several more miles of never-ending death defying turns and my getting less than enthusiastic "huh, huh" to my repeated "Isn't that great dear?", it becomes clear that my wife's mind is no longer on this expedition, if it ever was. I pull about and instantly feel the presence of relief in the air as she settles in for a snooze.

A man in the middle of the road, wearing bright yellow rain gear, surrounded by a slew of traffic cones, furiously waving his hands above his head forebodes a heap of trouble.

As I slow down and pull up to the Maui man in the middle of the road, I ask if we are being detoured. "Not at all," he says... "the road is closed." "Oh," is my reply.

It wasn't long before that well known Hawaiian laid back and "hang loose" feeling dissipated. Our adventurous trip, it seems, is ground to a halt simply as a result of some local road work.

It was at this point I feel my life span shortening. Now fully awake, my wife is in tears realizing we will be missing the wedding. Between the sobs I hear what sounds like threats of bodily harm cast in my direction. I have to think and act fast!

I plead with the Maui man to let me through in this life and death situation, but to no avail. New idea. I ask him if there is an airport around, this side of the closed road, that has those island hopping planes or helicopters I'd read about in the travel brochures. He said he knew of an airport in Hana, but didn't know what kind of aircraft flew out of there or when.

We make good time getting to the Hana airport, under an hour, a third less time than the rule of thumb hour-and-a-half.

The airport is very small and has only one short runway. It is located in a clearing, in the middle of nowhere, just on the edge of the town of Hana. It has two small buildings, one being the passenger terminal the other the mechanic's shed.

The terminal is only about twice the size of Round Lake's train station and has just as many employees. A lady stands behind a counter about the size a carnival barker would use.

After parking and locking up the rental car for its overnight stay, Fran and I make haste to the front desk to inquire about alternate transportation.

After several anxious minutes of discussion with the lady attendant we discover that all charter flights, both small airplanes and helicopters, are full and no others are available.

Frantic, I pose the question to the lady about possibly leasing a helicopter for just Fran and me. She says it's worth a try and recommends one of the charter helicopter outfits who do almost anything.

I get on the phone to them, fingers and toes crossed on all limbs, and tell them our sad tale. They say they'll have to see if they can locate a pilot and will call back. So we wait.

Ring, ring. I hope it's good news. The lady hands me the telephone and I ask in a confident voice, "Were you able to get a pilot?" The person on the other end says that they have and that he can be here in about 15 minutes. Whew!

As we scan the skies for our helicopter the thought crosses our mind on a new problem. We will fly out of here and leave the rental car behind, meaning we must return to retrieve it. Sending a tow truck to get it will cost $500. We know this because they told us so when we got the car. It would also open us up to suffering the ridicule of hearing "we told you so."

With a melding of the minds that would do Star Trek's Mr. Spock proud, Fran and I decide that we will just get another rental car once we get back to the big airport. We'll need it to get to our hotel room and then to the wedding. The two of us will drive back early the next morning to Hana to retrieve our first rental. It means Fran, who doesn't drive as recklessly as I, will have to negotiate the same treacherous road — this time from behind the steering wheel.

A black whirly bird drops from the sky. Our ride has arrived.

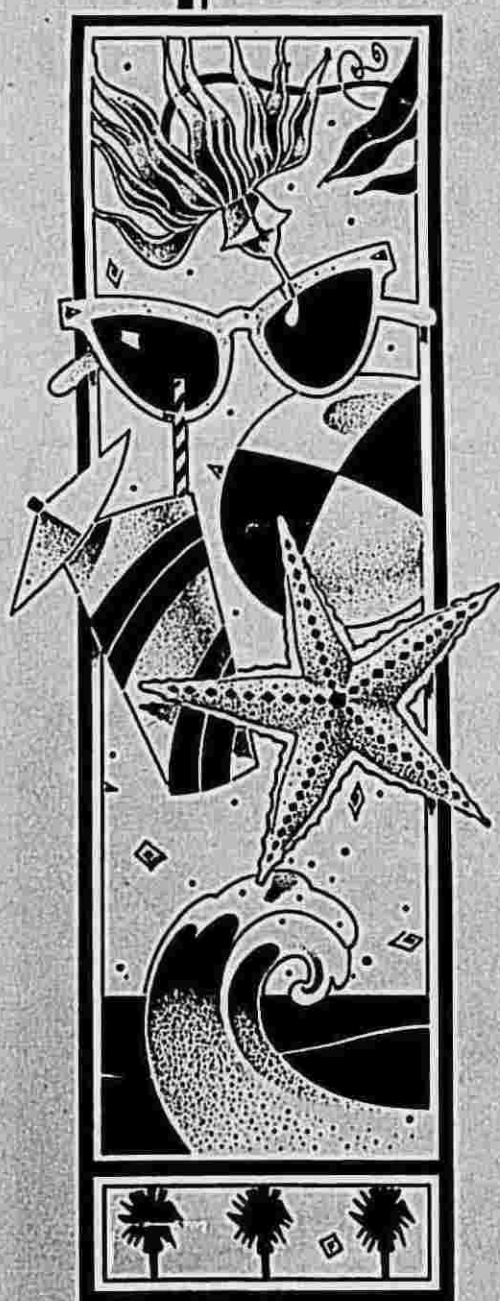

We make it to the sunset wedding with time to spare and the bride and groom are none the wiser.

We must once again experience the Road to Hana and back in order to — retrieve the first rental car, get back, return it to Budget, return the second car to National, and be at the airport in time for our flight home at 2 pm.

Fran and I load up the car and check out of the motel. It is pedal-to-the-metal time.

We gas up and return our two rental cars and then check in with the flight desk. And guess what, there's still time to buy pineapples for the folks back home. — By Bish Krywko

Heat increases likelihood of athlete's foot

Whether you're at the beach, pool, gym, camp, work, or even hanging around the house, there's a good chance you may develop a fungal infection this summer.

"Summer heat and humidity brings excess moisture and sweating to our bodies, creating the perfect setting for fungi to grow or fungal infections to develop," says dermatologist Guy Webster, M.D., Associate Professor and Director for Cutaneous Pharmacology at Thomas Jefferson University. "Fungi tend to thrive in warm, moist places, such as between the toes, in the groin, under the breasts, and other parts of the body." One of every five persons gets a fungal infection at some time.

Athlete's foot is the most common fungal skin infection in humans and affects an estimated 70 percent of adults. It occurs mostly among teenagers and adult males. Many people will develop it at least once in their lives.

Contrary to popular belief, walking barefoot in places like public showers, swimming pools, and locker rooms are not the main causes of athlete's foot, but they can be contributing factors. "Sweaty feet, not drying feet well after swimming or bathing, tight shoes and socks which offer no ventilation, and a warm climate present the perfect setting for the fungus that causes athlete's foot to grow," notes Ronald Lepow, D.P.M., president-elect of the American Podiatric Medical Association.

Athlete's foot may affect different people in different ways. Symptoms may include cracked, blistered and peeling areas between the toes, redness and scaling on the soles, and intense itching. Athlete's foot may spread to other parts of the foot, including toenails. The fungal infection can also extend to other parts of the body, notably the groin (commonly referred to as jock itch) and underarms, by those who scratch the infection and then touch themselves elsewhere.

Proper treatment of a fungal infection depends on the right diagnosis, which makes going to a physician so important, stresses Dr. Lepow. Before treating what you think may be athlete's foot or some other fungal infection, he advises to check with your podiatrist or dermatologist, who can diagnose the condition and prescribe the correct course of treatment.

Should you choose to first self-treat your athlete's foot with an over the counter antifungal cream, be advised that some of these products may relieve some symptoms fairly quickly, but don't necessarily alleviate the problem, cautions Dr. Webster. "While your skin may look better and temporarily feel better, the infection can remain for some time afterwards. Athlete's foot is notorious for its high rate of recurrence, he says." If you notice no improvement within two weeks of using an over the counter product, he suggests you call your doctor to determine if a fungus is the cause of the problem.

For athlete's foot and other fungal infections such as jock itch and ringworm of the skin, your doctor may prescribe Spectazole (econazole nitrate 1 percent) Cream. Spectazole is a prescription antifungal cream approved for treatment against nine major organisms, including yeast, more than twice as many as most other topical antifungal medications do. In various clinical studies, a majority of patients with moderate to severe athlete's foot experienced early relief of symptoms, high cure rates, and low incidents of relapse following the recommended treatment with Spectazole.

In more severe cases, a doctor may prescribe foot soaks before applying antifungal creams. If your athlete's foot is stubborn, antifungal oral medication may be prescribed.

While it is not easy to prevent athlete's foot and other fungal infections, both doctors say you can take steps to lessen your chances of infection by following some simple rules:

- Wash your feet daily.
- Dry your feet thoroughly, especially in between your toes.
- Avoid tight footwear, especially in the summer. Sandals are the best warm weather footwear.
- Wear cotton socks and change them daily or more frequently if they become damp. Don't wear socks made of synthetic materials.
- If possible, go barefoot at home.
- Dust an antifungal powder into your shoes in the summertime. Don't let rashes go untreated, adds Dr. Webster. Not treating the rash at all can result in skin blisters and cracks that can lead to bacterial infections.

During clinical trials, approximately 3 percent of patients treated with Spectazole Cream reported side effects thought possibly to be due to the drug, consisting mainly of burning, itching, stinging and erythema (redness).

Warmer weather increases water-related accidents

As summer heat makes an early appearance, health experts at Children's Hospital of Wisconsin are asking adults to be extra careful when their children are near lakes and swimming pools.

The hospital reports about 20 drownings or near-drownings each year, Sue Sorge, RN, Trauma and Injury Prevention manager said.

"We can't stress enough how important it is to always be watching children when they are near water," Sorge said. "Even children who have had swimming lessons need to be watched when swimming, boating or playing close to water."

Although people may think they already are taking strong precautions, Sorge said most drownings or near-drownings occur when adults are nearby.

"Nationally, about 70 percent of preschoolers who drown were being supervised at the time of the drowning," Sorge said. "And, more than 50 percent of preschooler pool drownings occur in the child's own home pool, while another 33 percent occur in the pools of friends, family members or neighbors."

Sorge urged parents and adults to take the following precautions when children are swimming or near water:

- Never leave children alone when they are near water and do not allow them to swim alone or unsupervised.

- Always keep your child in your line of vision.
- Designate a pool lifeguard at all social functions.
- Never assume someone else is watching your child.
- Never rely on floatation devices to assist children who do not have strong swimming skills.
- Teach your child pool safety rules, such as no running and no pushing.
- Enclose pools with fences children cannot climb over. Make sure all gates are self-closing and have latches placed where children cannot teach them.

• Always have toddlers and preschoolers in life vests while in a boat or on a pier.

Drowning facts

• Drowning is the third leading cause of unintentional injury-related deaths for children 14 and under. Each year, more than 1,200 children age 14 and younger drown. Seventy-five percent of them are between 1 and 3 years old.

• Each year, near-drownings cause an estimated 4,000 children under 14 to be admitted to hospitals for treatment, while more than 16,000 children are treated in emergency rooms and released. Often, children may be resuscitated, but are left with permanent disabilities.

Attorney general launches health care bureau hotline

Illinois Attorney General Jim Ryan unveiled a statewide hotline number for consumers that allows them to contact his office's new health care bureau.

The bureau has begun identifying and attacking unfair and deceptive practices in the marketing and delivery of health care. It is equipped to mediate consumer complaints and file civil lawsuits under the state's Consumer Fraud and Deceptive Business Practices Act. The bureau targets managed care and other care providers, including those offering Medicaid and Medicare.

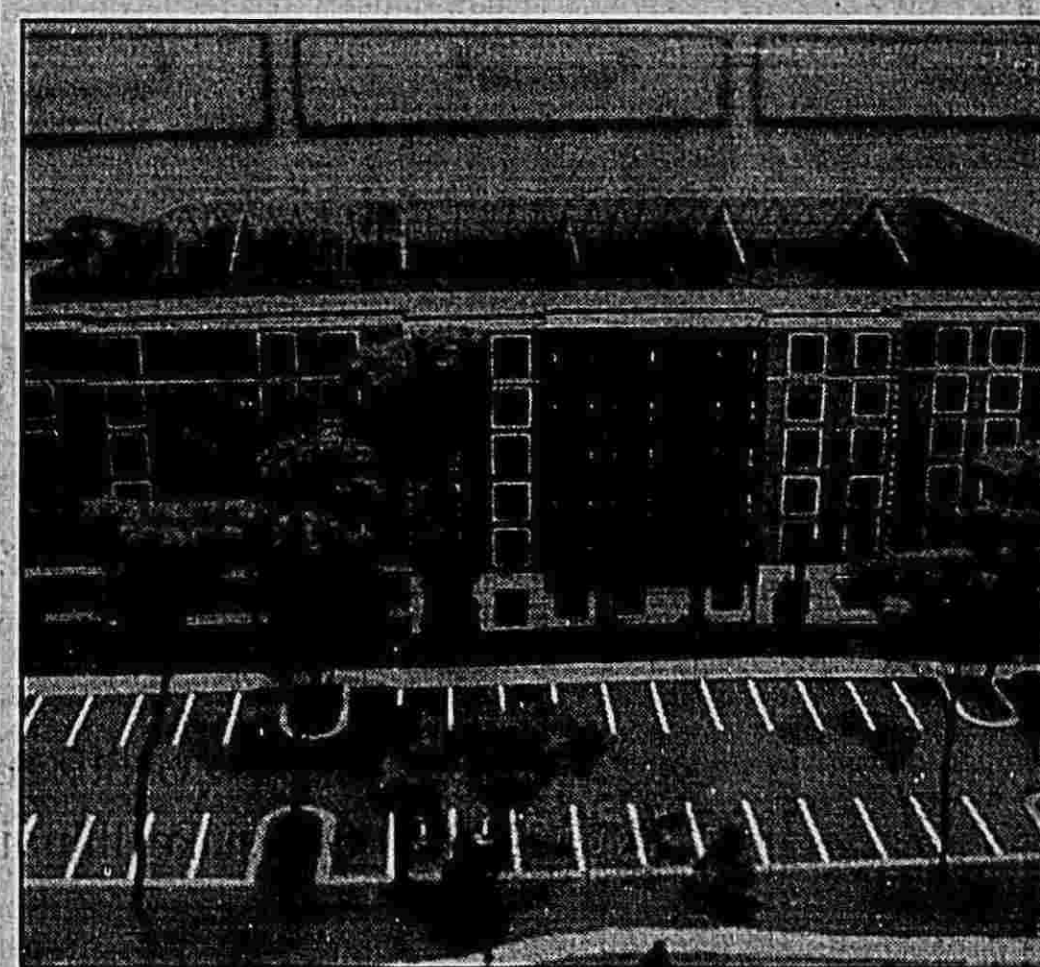

"A consumer is entitled to health care that is fair and free of deception," Attorney General Ryan said. "This bureau will seek to preserve those rights through medication or by taking action against providers and insurers who engage in unfair or deceptive practices."

"The new bureau is staffed by two Assistant Attorney Generals, two complaint mediators, and support staff. Ryan estimates it will cost approximately $350,000 per year. Since the bureau became operational last October, it has received 120 complaints for mediation. So far, the bureau has a 75 percent success rate in resolving consumer concerns.

Ryan will send radio and print public service announcements across the state to announce the bureau and its special toll-free hotline. Consumers who want to file health care related complaints should call the hotline during business hours, Monday through Friday. There also is a voice mail system to take messages during non-business hours. The hotline number is (877) 305-5145. Consumers also can access information about the health care bureau via the Attorney General's website at www.ag.state.il.us.

In addition, Ryan will conduct information forums at hospitals throughout the state.

Ways to take heart in a hurried world

Dear Readers,

Does it feel to you like life is extremely hurried? If it isn't the kids' lessons, it's work. If it isn't work, it's fixing dinner. If it isn't fixing dinner, it's the kid's sports events, etc. etc. etc. Sometimes, it becomes difficult to focus on the great things in life because we're running to catch up with life! I wanted to do a column for you on some of the great things that I have felt in my own life that have really helped me to see things clearly. I think these will inspire you like they have inspired me. If you try to at least think of these things once a day to once a week, you will feel what I am talking about. Here they are...

- Think of someone you care a great deal about and put their needs before your own even though it is inconvenient for you. Notice the look on their face when they know it. Notice how it feels to have given that.

- Take a moment out to actually look hard at a beautiful sunset. The last one I did this with was the most incredible shades of pink and purple I have ever seen. I actually took the child I was working with at the time and took him over to the window with me to look at this incredible sunset. It really was awe-inspiring.

PARENT'S PLACE

Sherri Singer,
Psy.D.

- Get together with someone just to laugh really hard! I don't mean twittering over a joke. I mean the kind of laughter that you feel all over your body. Not only is it a great feeling, but it is supposed to be a great workout for the heart muscles. I can remember being in high school and getting together with my best friend Stacey and first just scaring the daylight out of each other and then laughing for hours! It's great fun, especially if you are a person who spends most of your time running from pace to place.

- Take a good hard look at your children's faces and see how incredibly beautiful they are! Sometimes we take this for granted and don't look closely enough.

- In a similar vein, if you have dogs or cats, take some time and look at how beautiful they are. Look at their markings and how their fur flows. Also, if you take some time and sit with them by yourself, you can find an incredible peace. They say that animals can actually lower your blood pressure! I believe it and have experienced it.

- Think about the last miracle in your life! Miracles happen every day! Sometimes we just don't notice them. Our lives take many twists and turns and sometimes they feel like they are bad directions, when they are really miracles in disguise. When I think of some of the things that have happened to me in my life that would have sent me down a completely different path (the wrong path), I get awe-inspired. Some of the things that I lost along the way that made me feel terrible at the time, were actually things that were putting me on the right road that ultimately took me where I have gotten to, which is exactly where I wanted to be! Thinking about it makes me feel terrific. We all have those experiences and thinking about them even once in a while can be incredible.

- Think about the people in your life that you are so thankful for! We all have em!

- Do something silly that isn't in your character or isn't something you'd do as an adult. Obviously, don't do anything illegal or anything that will get you in trouble, but silly, innocent things can be great. I can remember a time that work was stressful and one day, I called a friend and we went swinging. No, I don't mean at a bar. I mean on a playground. We actually got in the swings and swung as high we could. It was wonderful fun! Your thing might be different, but can be equally as fun!

The bottom line is that we are here on this earth to enjoy our lives. Life is short and is meant to be lived every moment. Sometimes, we end up on "auto pilot" to the point that we miss so much. I have had weeks go by and I can't believe the week has actually gone by already.

It is important to take little breathers and actually look around at what is there. I remember that when I got married, my beautician told me to make a point of asking my Matron of Honor to tap me on the shoulder at certain points during the reception so that I could wake up and become aware of everything that was going on around me at that very moment. She told me that if I didn't do that, the whole day would be gone in a snap and I might not have stopped to look. I did have my Matron of Honor do that for me and it was the best thing that I could have done! I'm suggesting that these little things and others can be ways of you tapping yourself on the shoulder to look around and see what great things there are to be experienced in your life!

Calcium may prevent gum problems

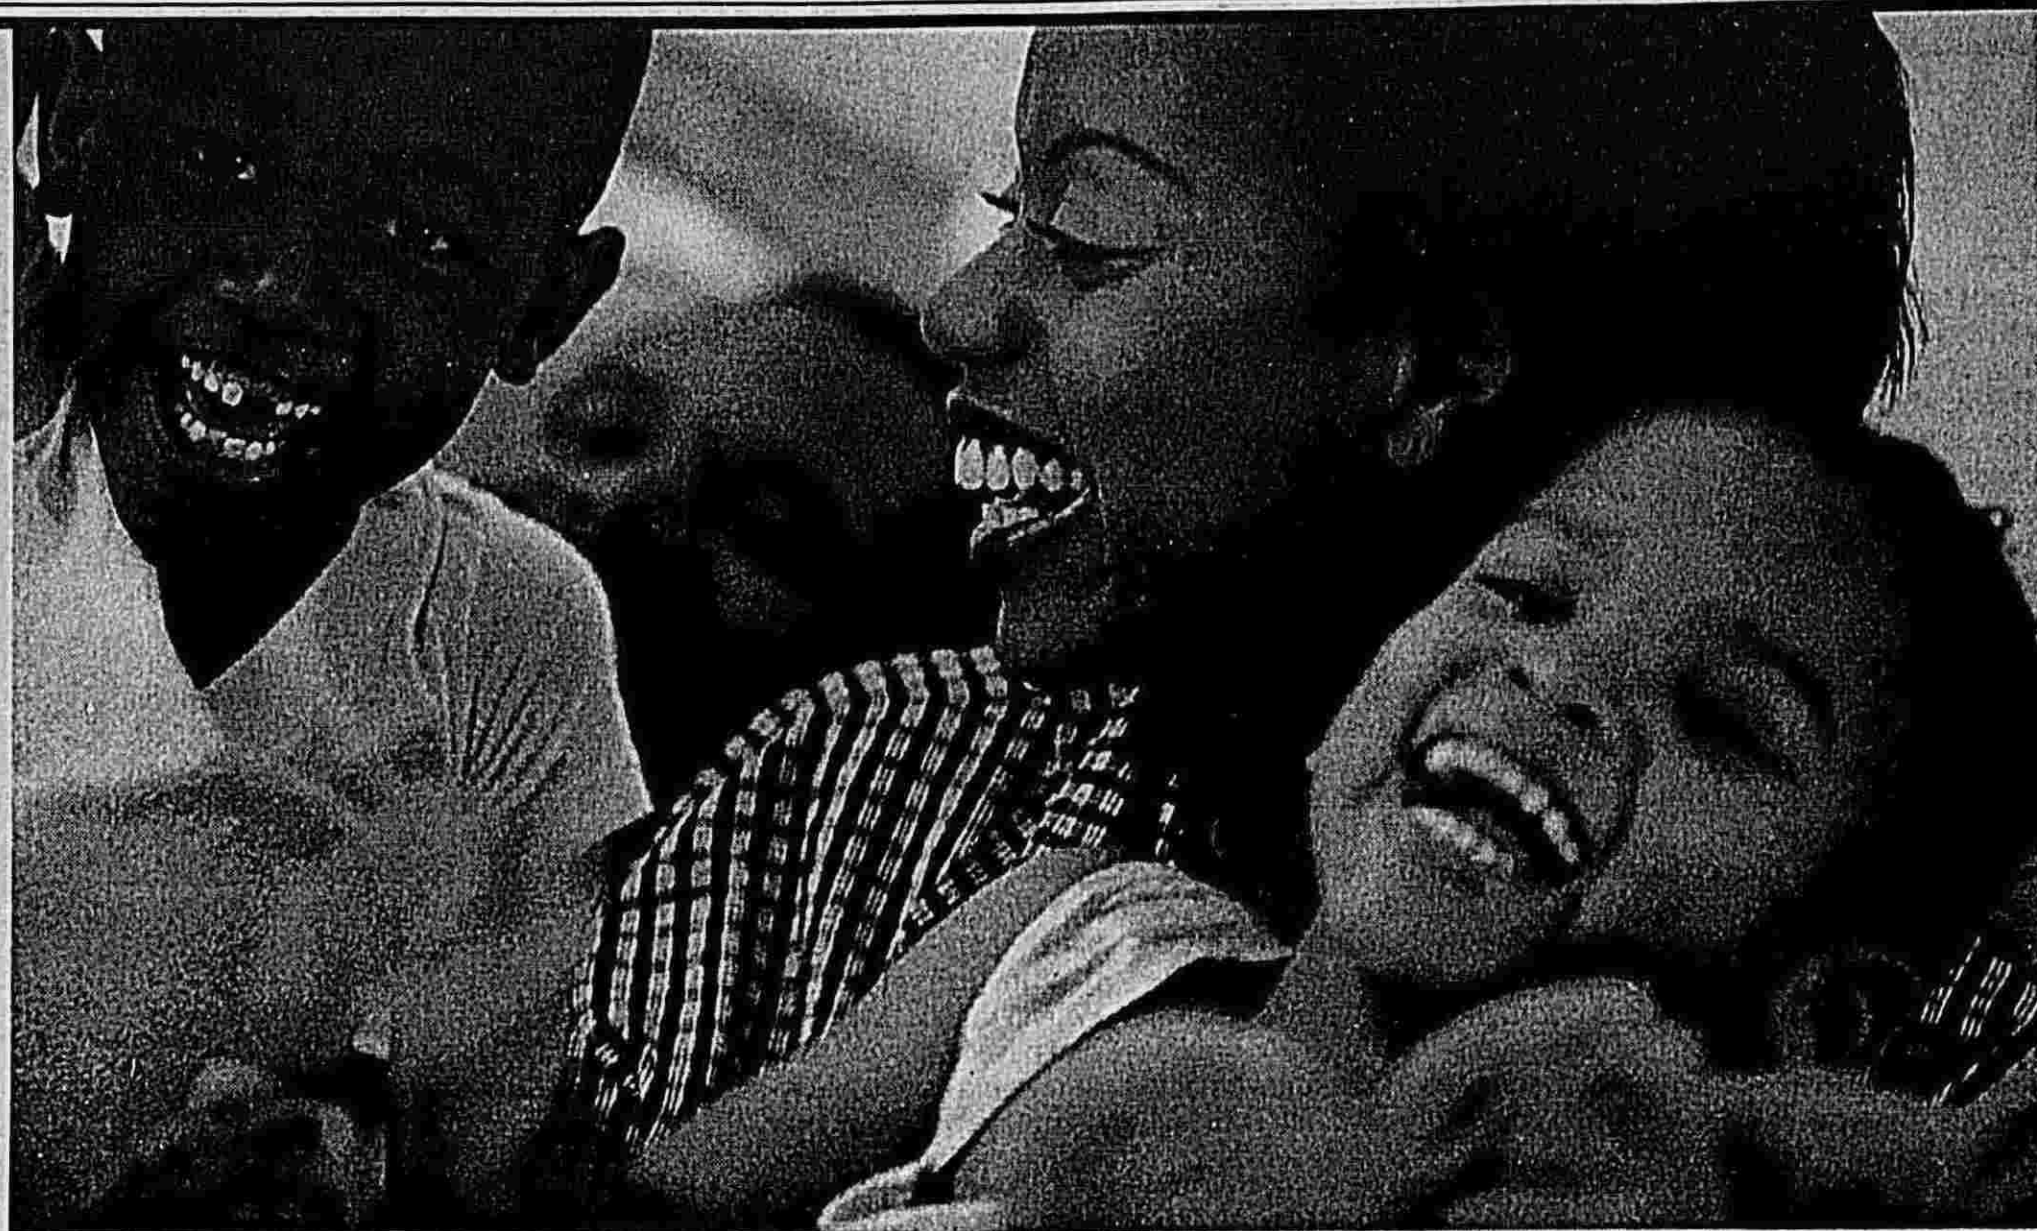

Getting enough calcium may lower a person's risk of developing periodontal, or gum disease according to information published in the July issue of the Tufts University Health & Nutrition Letter.

Dental researchers at the State University of New York at Buffalo made the finding when they looked at records of calcium consumption and the extent of periodontal disease in nearly 15,000 people. Men and women who had calcium intakes of fewer than 500 milligrams, or half the recommended daily value, had a higher risk for detachment of the gums from teeth. The association was particularly evident for adults in their 20s and 30s.

Periodontal disease is an infection caused by bacteria that accumulate in pockets between the teeth and gums. If the infection progresses far enough, the jawbone that keeps teeth in place eventually is destroyed, causing teeth to loosen and fall out. Advanced cases of periodontal disease are the leading cause of tooth loss in the United States. But stronger bone reinforced by calcium is believed to better withstand the bacterial onslaught.

A 1996 study conducted at Tufts showed that post-menopausal women who lost teeth also were losing bone density in their hips and rest of their bodies at a faster rate than women who did not lose teeth. "If you lose bone everywhere else in the skeleton, you're likely to lose bone in the jaw," says Elizabeth Krall, PhD, who led that research project. "Conversely, if calcium has a good effect on the rest of the skeleton, you might expect to see benefits in the jaw too."

Health care that's so complete, it makes everybody feel better.

And that's the big difference at Provena Saint Therese Medical Center. Here, feeling good isn't just for patients and their families. It's for doctors, nurses, in fact, our entire staff. Climbing miniature roses: Big impact from little flowers

Miniature roses have had a large impact on gardening and rose enjoyment over the past several years. Many gardeners have come to realize that these little plants offer big color, continuous bloom, and easy care.

And while miniature roses are often seen in landscape plantings, as bedding plants, and as underplantings for larger roses or perennials, the truly spectacular climbing miniature roses have often been overlooked. Perhaps because there are so few different varieties available, gardeners are not very familiar with these amazing plants that can grow as tall as the tallest large-flowered climbing rose.

Climbing miniature rose plants, like their shorter-growing cousins, have small flowers (1 to 2 inches in diameter) and small leaves, in perfect proportion. The canes, however, can grow to 10 to 12 feet, making them perfect for fastening to arbors, trellises, or fences. Many gardeners tie the long canes to the ground to create a fountainous effect.

Like their more compact counterparts, climbing mini roses are really easy to grow and are very winter hardy, sustaining little or no winter damage and requiring little or no winter protection even where winters are cold.

The newest addition to the small family of climbing miniature roses is Climbing Climbing Rainbow's End™ is a great climber for a trellis or arbor.

ing Rainbow's End™ from Nor'East Miniature Roses Inc. It is a sport, or genetic mutation, of America's most popular miniature rose, Rainbow's End™. Climbing Rainbow's End™ flowers have bright yellow petals with a crimson edge. And each flower has outstanding rose form, with the petals unfurling to a very attractive spiral. The plant, which is available by mail order, will arrive in a small pot. But within a couple of weeks it will start to throw up several large, long canes, covered with bright green, shiny foliage and hundreds of bright flowers.

Like other varieties of climbing miniature roses, Jeanne LaJoie, Red Cascade, and Snowfall, Climbing Rainbow's End™ blooms continuously throughout the growing season and will become even larger and more florif-erous as the years go by.

THE CLIPBOARD

John Phelps

Come feel the thunder!!

If you're looking for a relatively inexpensive evening with a lot of noise, speed and excitement, I highly recommend Wilmot Speedway, located just north of Antioch off Highway C in Wilmot, Wisconsin.

Last Saturday, the thunderous echoes of the 410-cubic inch, 800-horsepower engines carrying the area's best sprint car racers representing mostly Wisconsin and Illinois, treated a packed house to a memorable night of racing as part of Wilmot's annual "King of Wisconsin Sprints" event.

First, our congratulations to Todd Daun of Pleasant Prairie, Wis., for winning his first-ever sprint car feature.

Daun started out sixth in the A' Main and wound up holding off Kurt Winker of Kenosha en route to the title, crown, trophy, and the $3,000 first prize.

Perhaps two of the favorites heading in, point-leader and three-time feature winner Tommy Sexton of Antioch and Johnsbury's Dave Moulis, three-time Wilmot champion and 1998 "King of The Sprints," each had their share of difficulties prior to the race. Sexton, bad drive line and all, was saddled with the scratch while Moulis, because of a flat tire, had to start at the back of the pack and wound up 19th.

Now, a special thanks are in order to two gentlemen that work behind the scenes, so to speak, a make Wilmot what it is. I'm sure many of you know of them.

They are Lakeland Newspapers very own, Mike Babicz, who, incidentally, was promoted from within to News Editor and has been the "voice" or track announcer at Wilmot for the past 20 years, and, Wilmot Speedway President and Promoter Andy Calin.

Both provided me the utmost hospitality on a night that saw the scoreboard lights go out momentarily and in the heat of some intense racing, had several sprint cars head off to the pits, whether it be due to a crash or perhaps more commonly, in search of some form of mechanical adjustment.

Calin, along with partner and wife Debbie, took over the track four years ago from then long-time president and promoters, Ray and Joan Toft of Antioch.

Ray is the former Mayor of Antioch and in one way or another for over 40 years, has been instrumental in the operation of Wilmot Speedway.

Meanwhile, Calin, in my observation (as well as many others) runs a top-notch facility that encourages fun for the entire family, whether you're of the racing-inclined or not.

Calin was kind enough to let me accompany him in the pace car prior to the start of the main event. What a rush, having 20 cars follow in closely behind, all eagerly awaiting the green flag.

Wilmot plays host to a variety of racing, from the modifieds to sprint cars, and chances are, there's a guy, or gal, that represents your respective area. So it would behoove one to go check this out. It is, in my opinion, the closest thing to being in the car itself because your right on top of the action. Good food, souvenirs, and an energetic crowd are what you're in store for. A good time will be had by all!

The consummate Sensei

Connors a model of excellence

JANNAN J. KHURI
Correspondent

Capable and sincere—two words many people in the Karate community use to describe Karate Sensei Anna Connors of the Antioch Shotokan Karate School. Are there other personal traits that make this five-foot, two-inch tall, second degree black belt so successful as a Karate instructor and business woman?

According to Connors' Sensei, Jim O'Hara, what she lacks in stature she makes up for in confidence. A trait many of her students find has been enhanced by attending her school.

The school, in its sixth year, has been building the confidence for men, children and women alike, and offers classes for all ages whatever their level of skill may be.

One of the women who has gained more confidence through Karate at Shotokan is Robin Jaranson. Jaranson, a third degree brown belt, said she attends Connors school or dojo (Japanese for training hall) because she loves the way she runs it and added that Connors always has a smile on her face. Jaranson said she feels Connors runs a very family-oriented school and offers extracurricular activities for the students and their families such as, an upcoming canoe outing and an annual picnic.

"It's so family oriented compared to other schools and it's all because of her," said Jaranson. "The sky is the limit—when she has something planned, nothing stops her. She always finds a way to get things done."

O'Hara, owner and instructor at the Focus Karate dojo of Lake in the Hills, commented on the level of intensity and commitment that is reflected in how Connors runs her dojo.

"She's got a passion to excel and that's a good passion to have when you take into concern the people it affects," said O'Hara.

As far as some of the qualities that make Connors so personable, O'Hara said, "I think Anna's got a very good work ethic and is very passionate about what she does. She really loves what she is doing and it shows in everything that she does."

Connors said that in her style of teaching she tries to lighten things up when things start to get stressful by telling jokes, but that her students know when it's time to get to work. Connors added that having a sense of humor relaxes tension and stress.

In her own personal Karate achievements, Connors recently became certified as a Cardio-Kickboxing/Karate instructor, and had to prove herself worthy of her current status of a second degree black belt. Connors said in April all the intense training for her current belt paid off and that after it was all done, it felt good.

The test itself was done in front of a five person panel consisting of O'Hara and four other well-known and respected upper-level martial artists. One portion required her to do her best sparring and to execute 12 to 14 different Kata's. The other two parts of the evaluation required her to show the board her teaching capabilities and included a writing assignment on the history and future of Karate.

Connors said in January she began to intensify her training for the test and put in anywhere from one to three hours a day of training. In the last two months before the test, she was training twice a day, once in the morning and then again in the evening.

Connors jokingly said, "Once you were done you were dead. I remember all I wanted to do was sleep once the test was completed."

Connors said she had a strong feeling of accomplishment after showing her skills and capabilities in front of such a highly respected Sensei, Joe Mirza.

Connors said her teaching style is very structured, but not too structured and that she bases it on what she learned from O'Hara. Her people skills is something she also learned from O'Hara, who is affectionately called Sensei Spidey by some of the students.

In the dojo, she tries to teach her students both young and old skills that will build discipline, self-confidence, and self-esteem. The students learn to focus better, which she feels carries over into learning to deal with everyday life situations.

The techniques she emphasizes in her mature adult classes teaches her students to not appear as victims and to walk with their heads high and to use the martial art as a defensive means of protection, rather than an aggressive offensive approach.

In O'Hara's opinion, a successful dojo is determined by not so many people you bring through the door, but rather, the number of students you retain. Connors has been successful with retaining students in the past six years and said her school has about 85 students currently enrolled in the 19-plus classes at the Antioch Shotokan Karate School. "A successful dojo is one that retains its high belts," said O'Hara.

O'Hara added that he feels what makes Connors a good instructor is that she has a good sense of humor and that she treats people well and that her students respect her as a martial artist.

Connors husband and oldest son Shidoshi's (Japanese for assistance instructor) have been active in training in Karate too while at Connors' school.

As an instructor, O'Hara feels that you can't be good if you are not progressing yourself and that whether or not an instructor is good or not show in the caliber of students. Nine of Connors' students recently earned medals at the Karate Nationals competition in Orlando, Fla., which reflects the caliber of students at her school and her level of teaching capability.

Connors' future plans are to continue training, passing on to her students the confidence and skills she has gained through her own experience as a student and life-long learner.

Antioch youth baseball results

10-year-old team

The 10-year-old Antioch all-star team won the District 16 tournament and continues to advance in the Sectional tournament in Crystal Lake.

They will play in the championship game against Crystal Lake's team. They had won in earlier games in this tournament. Craig Holst pitched a great game for the win against River Forest.

12-year-old team

The Antioch 12-year-old all-star team also won their District tournament, but lost to Norridge 5-1 in the Sectional tournament. They will play next at Williams Park in Antioch.

Above, the 9-10-year-old Antioch youth baseball team claimed the District 16 championship last weekend. Lake County Chiefs baseball heating up Congratulations to the Lake County Chiefs 10-year-old baseball team.

Both 10-year-old teams finished second in their respective divisions at the Red, White and Blue tournament at Fort Sheridan. The event was sponsored by Lake County Baseball.

Both teams went 2-1 in their divisions where they played against teams from Buffalo Grove, Grayslake, Lake Villa, and Norwood Park. They are currently participating in a tournament at Horner Park and will travel to Waukegan to play in the upcoming Bronco tournament.

The 12-year-old Chiefs travel to Wisconsin to participate in the August Heat Tournament.

Art Mansavage, director of Lake County Baseball, has been named the Illinois director for WASA Baseball and will be working with the Wisconsin Director in putting on the first WASA Baseball World Series. The World Series will take place Aug. 12-15 in the Fielder's Choice Sports Complex in Racine, Wis. Anyone interested in obtaining information on the WASA World Series should contact Art Mansavage at (847) 945-9606.

There will be divisions for ball players 10-years-and-under, 11-years-and-under, 12-years-and-under, 13-years-and-under, and 14-years-and-under.

THE WILLIAM E. BROOK

WINTER RECREATION PROJECTA PART OF THE

William E. Brook Memorial

Wetland Sanctuary and Entertainment Center

In April of 1996 the Village of Antioch announced plans for a special project located east of Skidmore Drive. The purpose of the project is to enhance 3.25 acres of wetland on a 6-acre site along Sequoit Creek to promote increased wildlife habitat and provide educational benefits for the residents, tourists and students. This project includes the creation of two ponds, planting of wetland vegetation, creation of a commemorative brick path entrance including berms, plant-ing trees and wild flowers, construction of walking paths and board walks through the wetlands, educational standards, nesting areas for water fowl and a building to be used as an educational and entertainment center.

This special project has since grown into the William E. Brook Memorial Wetland Sanctuary and Entertainment Center. The purpose of the memorial is to honor the life and the legacy of our remarkable citizen, William E. Brook. His love of, and respect for nature continue to inspire us.

The goal is to accomplish this entire project through private donations, in-kind donations, volunteer help and grants. The sale of commemorative bricks for the entrance will help raise money for the overall project. Your brick(s) can become a permanent part of this spectacular project.

Your fully tax deductible purchase can start as low as $50⁰⁰ per 4" x 8" engraved brick. For full information call (847) 395-1309

Todd Daun crowned "sprint king" at Wilmot

Pleasant Prairie's Todd Daun, past Wilmot sprint car rookie of the year, scored the biggest feature win of his career after taking the checkered flag in the "King of Wisconsin" Sprint Challenge crown last weekend at Premier Racing Production's Wilmot Speedway.

Daun used a new chassis, an Eagle, to soar to his first ever J&L Oil/United Expressline Interstates Racing Association Outlaw Sprints sanctioned win, which made the "King" victory doubly meaningful. "It's great to finally get a win, plus in this race, it's even more meaningful," said Daun in victory lane. "It's taken us a couple weeks to figure the new car out, but now it's running super."

Daun's win came following he posted a fast qualifying time out of the 62 cars on hand for the state's biggest single day sprint special. Kenosha's Kurt Winker, who won the "B" main, was second, IRA point leader Donny Goeden of Kenosha, Wis. third, Kenosha's Tim Ammon had a career best fourth, Kenosha's Kim Mock, after starting 21st in the field taking a provisional, wound up finishing fifth. Seventime IRA and 1997 "King" Joe Roe of Kenosha came from 20th to place 10th after getting to start the main as an alternate.

Wilmot Star Trac point leader Tommy Sexton of Antioch blew his drive line at the checkered flag in the qualifying heat. Following repairs, Sexton was participating in the traditional four-wide parade lap in front of the huge crowd when the drive line snapped again, knocking off the fuel pump and causing a brief flash fire in the driver's compartment. Sexton was not injured, but unable to start the main. IRA officials ruled Roe would come in as alternate.

During the delay in the start, Johnsbury's Dave Moulis, three-time Wilmot champion and 1998 "King" who earlier won a qualifying heat, had a tire go down. Following the tire change, Moulis restarted at the rear, eventually placing 19th. Gurnee's Tony Engels was 13th, Fox Lake's Paul Ptasinski 17th, and Zion's Brent Mason, in his first ever "King" main start, was 20th.

The IRA returns to Wilmot Saturday, August 28, for the "After The Fair Championships" as the Kenosha County Fair Board has decided not to run sprint cars during the annual fair for the first time in over 40 years.

Daun almost made it a "two-for" weekend, leading for a while in the IRA sprint feature July 25 at Dodge County Fairgrounds in Beaver Dam, Wis. Roe came on to catch Daun in turn two with eight laps to go and hung on for the victory. Daun wound up settling for second.

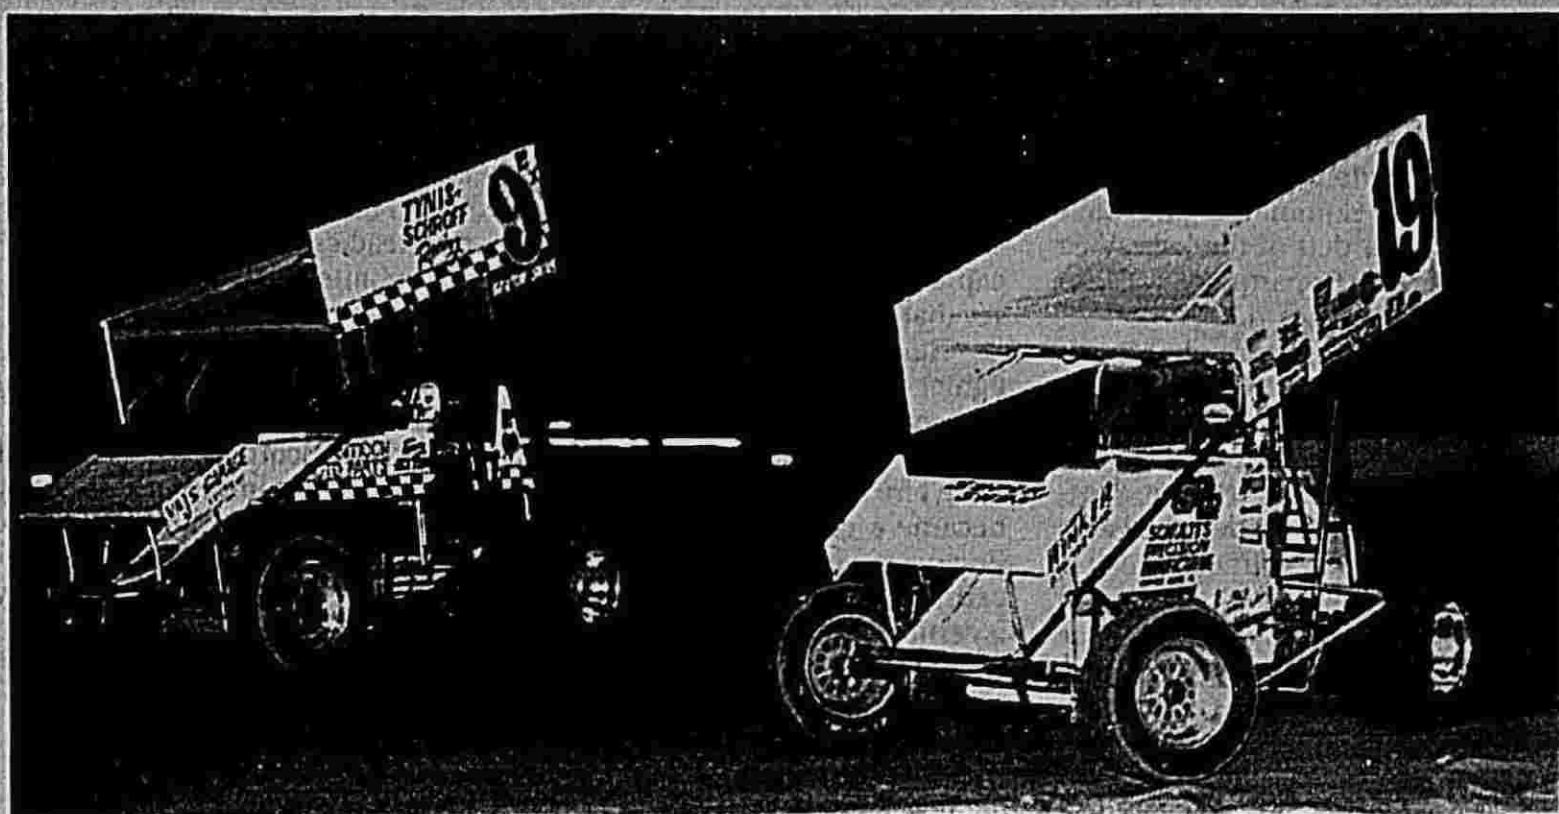

Lake Villa's Raymond Hensley, bidding for a third straight win at Dodge and $10,000 bonus, experienced front end problems, sending him to the pits early—he finished 20th. Lake Villa's John Tierney, after winning the "B" main, was 21st and Gurnee's Fred Ebler 24th.

Hensley has one last try for the extra Pit Stop Pizza cash on Saturday, Sept. 18, if he can win that night at Dodge.

In Sunday Funday racing July 25 at Wilmot, Chris Regert and Kurt Talbert of Salem teamed up for their first ever cruiser feature win. Johnny Fahl of Milwaukee continued a winning streak as hot as the weather in scoring another sweep, winning both his heat race and then the feature.

In IMCA modifieds, Antioch's Jim Morrison and Wildwood's Jason Hyerdahl were among heat winners. Antioch's Scott Kuxhouse won the "B" main. The feature was postponed until July 31 due to unsafe track conditions caused by the excessive heat.

campaign Saturday, July 31 and Sunday, August 1. Also on Saturday, Citgo Auto-Truck Plaza presents its 3rd Annual Wild Winged Women Sprint Car Challenge, plus Star Trac sprints and IMCA modifieds, which will run a full program plus the July 25 postponed feature. Racetime is 7:30 p.m. Sunday Funday August 1 will feature Coors Light Kegger Night with two-person cruisers, IMCA hobby stocks and mini-modifieds. Sunday racetime 4:30 p.m.

At Lake Geneva Raceway July 24, Antioch's John Maki scored his first ever super stock feature win. McHenry's Adam Regnier was second and point leader and fast qualifier Zac Deeringer of Wonder Lake third. Other finishers had Lake Zurich's Marty Robb seventh, Wauconda's Jim Hughes eighth, and Wonder Lake's Todd Peterson won his heat race.

Erik Darnell of Beach Park, a Zion-Benton High School 16-year-old junior, won his first ever Wisconsin Allison Legacy Series feature. Erik is the son of Park City's Danny Darnell, super late model competitor, and grandson of former area racer Bay Darnell of Deerfield. D. Darnell, currently second in points, set a fast time and was runner-up to Elkhorn's Randy Rodgers in the super lates feature. Johnsbury's Bob Moeller was ninth and McHenry's Joe Fisher finished 10th.

Pell Lake's Bob Koidahl won the sport truck feature. Wadsworth's Vincent Merry was fifth and the Grayslake brothers of Todd and Chad Ross were eighth and ninth, respectively.

Following a wash out July 23, Lake Geneva will try stadium motocross July 30 at 8 p.m. with oval action July 31 featuring super late models, super stocks, sportsman and legend cars at 7:30 p.m.

An unexpected trip to Calumet County Fairgrounds Speedway in Chilton, Wis. for this writer July 23 due to the Hales Corners Speedway IRA show rainout, proved fun once again. Thanks to Sippel Racing, yours truly ran a mini-sprint for the third time this season, finishing 6th in the heat and 10th in the feature. Randy's brother Scott, also in a rent-a-ride car, won the main. The Wisconsin Mini-Sprints Association cars come to Wilmot August 15. Sippel plans another open wheel driving school Sept. 20 at Wilmot. Call 920-876-3166 for info.

A solid summer for Sequoit basketball

BY JOHN PHELPS
Sports Editor

Basketball season is a little ways off but the games still continue, a la various summer leagues.

And summer is the perfect time to evaluate talent and get playing experience.

The Sequoits first team captured the second annual Antioch Shootout, defeating Zion-Benton II 67-47 to finish with a perfect 3-0 record in claiming the title.

Antioch's second team played well but finished 0-3 on the day.

Zion-Benton wound up second at 2-1 along with Grayslake. Machesney Park Harlem, Grant, Lake Geneva-Badger, and St. Edward's all finished 1-2.

"I thought it was a great summer," said Sequoits head coach Jeff Dresser. "We played the most games this summer (43) since I can remember and I think the experience will help us tremendously as the season nears."

Dresser was especially pleased with both teams play on the defensive end, with notable players such as 6'2 junior guard/forward Adam Durham, 6'4 senior forward/guard Don Lackey, and 6'2 senior forward Paul Arnold coming to mind.

"We were a lot better on defense the last couple of weeks," added Dresser. "We won't have a lot of height this season so the defense and rebounding will be a major focal point. And I was very pleased with what I saw this summer."

Dresser was happy to see Lackey, the Sequoits starting quarterback, in on the action.

"He's a great player who can score a lot," he said. "Don's been busy with football and it was nice to see him in there—he really gave us an added dimension."

Another standout player this summer, as well as on Saturday, was 6'3 junior guard Eric White.

"Eric really stepped up his game this summer," said Dresser. "He demonstrated great leadership, from calling plays to running the floor. His athleticism and hustle was excellent—he's really improved."

Josh Bonner, a 6'5 sophomore center, was yet another player who staked a claim on a starting position, come this winter.

"Josh really worked his tail off and held his own," said Dresser. "He played very effectively in the middle."

Chamber awards rescue squad, police, for service

By JACLYN GRAHAM
Staff Intern

The Lindenhurst-Lake Villa Chamber of Commerce gave Captain Scott Bartlett of the Lake Villa Volunteer Fire Department a "Community Service Award."

When he was appointed to active duty on May 3, 1982, Scott Bartlett followed in his father's footsteps as a volunteer for the Lake Villa Volunteer Fire Department. Scott's father, Clifford Bartlett, had ably served the fire department which is staffed entirely with paid-on-call volunteers like Scott.

"It's been a very enjoyable and rewarding volunteer experience," said Scott.

He has steadily risen through the ranks, having been promoted to lieutenant on March 21, 1989, and to captain on Jan. 7, 1992. One might say that Scott is "certifiable."

He became certified as a firefighter-level II in March of 1983, and he became certified as a firefighter-level III in January of 1988 by the State Fire Marshall's Office. He also became a certified Fire Apparatus Engineer in November of 1988, he is certified in underwater dives, and he is certified as an Emergency Medical Technician, or EMT.

"I thought it was important to recognize Scott's consistently fine service over the years," said Fire Chief Frank Slazes. "He's been one of our steadiest, most reliable paid-on-call volunteers."

Scott resides in Lake Villa with his wife, Colleen and daughters Hannah and Molly. The Fire Department volunteers are delighted and thankful to have Scott, Colleen and their family in the community, and they hope Scott continues to provide the community with dedicated, volunteer firefighting service for many years to come.

The Lindenhurst-Lake Villa Chamber of Commerce gave Larry Herbert a Community Service Award for his volunteerism with the Lake Villa Rescue Squad.

In June of 1998, Larry Herbert retired after 41 years with Ameritech, but the Lake Villa Rescue Squad is very fortunate to retain his services as a volunteer paramedic.

In fact, the Rescue Squad has been fortunate to benefit from Herbert's outstanding volunteer service for the past 26 years. Herbert's distinguished service includes 21 years as a licensed paramedic. He was one of the first Lake Villa Rescue Squad volunteers to receive paramedic training, which occurred at Highland Park Hospital in 1978.

Herbert's "Officer of the Year" award comes as no surprise to anyone who is familiar with the Lake Villa Rescue Squad. That is because he has been honored before; in 1948, Herbert received the Camella D. Kohl Memorial Award, which is named for a registered nurse at Victory Hospital who also served the Spring Grove Rescue Squad before dying in the line of duty in an automobile accident in 1987.

Camella Kohl was responding to an emergency call when the tragic accident occurred, and each year an award in her name is given to an outstanding member of the Northern Lake County Emergency Medical System for service above and beyond the call of duty.

Stacie Slazes, commander of the Lake Villa Rescue Squad, said the "Officer of the Year" awards recognizes Herbert's many years of fine service. "Larry epitomizes what we look for in a volunteer," Slazes said. "He's a great example for our entire staff." The Lake Villa Rescue Squad serves the Villages of Lake Villa and Lindenhurst as well as Lake Villa Township. The Rescue Squad could not serve these small but active communities without the efforts of volunteers like Larry Herbert.

Herbert resides in Lake Villa with Barbara, his wife of 41 years. They raised two children, Michael, 39, and Scott, 33, and the rescue squad thanks them both for contributing so much to the communities.

Gamesmasters Guild of Waukegan celebrates 25th

The Gamesmasters Guild of Waukegan is throwing a party celebrating 25 years of challenging gaming. And to celebrate they're throwing a party.

The club started on the Great Lakes Naval Base in 1974 on hospital-side. Originally part of the model Railroad Club it grew into its own entity stressing intelligent gaming and competition. It left base in 1980 because Special Services (now MWR) could no longer provide suitable quarters for the expanding membership. The move also allowed civilians more access and a bigger gaming pool.

Over the years the club has been active in the outside gaming community. We have play-tested a number of games for several companies and ran the miniature gaming sections of the Gen Con games fair for several years.

Currently, it is the oldest continual club in Lake County and the third oldest club in the Chicago Metropolitan area. Responsibility for actions, not age, is the Guild's main requirement for membership. Club member ages range from 9 to 60 years. Many different games are played—historical, fantasy and sci-fi and cover role-playing games and miniatures. The Guild can teach stress relief through gaming, and most of the time, the guild can supply the pieces.

The celebration is July 30 from 6 p.m. to midnight and July 31 from 10 a.m. to midnight.

Free gaming weekend

The Gamesmasters Guild of Waukegan and Gamesworkshop presents a weekend of free gaming to everyone who wishes to come. Fest hours are Friday, July 30, 6 p.m. to midnight; Saturday, July 31, 10 a.m. to midnight and Sunday, Aug. 1, 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Features will include the Gamesworkshop Summer Battle Tour "The Hunt for the Fallen" on Sunday, a live action "Call of Cthulu game" (based on the H.P. Lovecraft novels) on Friday, and a historical air combat game with prizes on Friday and Saturday. Figures will be provided, all you need is yourself. For a list of other games, more information or directions, call the Gamesmasters Guild at 336-0790.

Great Lakes Model Railroad Club reforms

The Great Lakes Model Railroad Club will be re-forming and returning to active railroading during the month of August. There will be both modular and static layouts in HO and N scales with the goal of public showings and outside participation. This is not a new club, having started in 1972 on base, it is simply a new direction. It is not necessary to have your own equipment—simply a willingness to work and contribute to the club. For more information, call 336-0790.

Rotary Club of Waukegan holds installation dinner

At the Glen Flora Country Club, the Rotary Club of Waukegan held their installation dinner.

Edgar Pigg was the Master of Ceremonies. Joe Trexler (Lake Zurich) turned over the president's gavel to Al Oller (Gurnee). Mark Thorn of Zion was installed as president-elect, Dan Rodriguez (Zion) as vice president, Katherine Rapp (Grayslake) as secretary and David Schafer (Wadsworth) as treasurer. Doug Stiles (Waukegan) led the group in song.

A special award-honorary member was bestowed on Carol May for her dedication and public relations efforts.

The Past District Governor Anthony Tolbert III, introduced the incoming Rotary District Governor Robert Williams.

The Rotary Club's motto is "Service above self."

THE WILLIAM E. BROOK
WINTER RECREATION PROJECT
A PART OF THE
William E. Brook Memorial
Wetland Sanctuary and Entertainment Center

In April of 1996 the Village of Antioch announced plans for a special project located east of Skidmore Drive. The purpose of the project is to enhance 3.25 acres of wetland on a 6-acre site along Sequoit Creek to promote increased wildlife habitat and provide educational benefits for the residents, tourists and students. This project includes the creation of two ponds, planting of wetland vegetation, creation of a commemorative brick path entrance including berms, planting trees and wild flowers, construction of walking paths and board walks through the wetlands, educational standards, nesting areas for water fowl and a building to be used as an educational and entertainment center.

This special project has since grown into the William E. Brook Memorial Wetland Sanctuary and Entertainment Center. The purpose of the memorial is to honor the life and the legacy of our remarkable citizen, William E. Brook. His love of, and respect for nature continue to inspire us.

The goal is to accomplish this entire project through private donations, in-kind donations, volunteer help and grants. The sale of commemorative bricks for the entrance will help raise money for the overall project. Your brick(s) can become a permanent part of this spectacular project.

Host families needed

Ever wonder what it would be like to really get to know a young person from a different country? Youth for Understanding (YFU) International Exchange offers Lake County families a chance to do just that. The national non-profit organization seeks host families for high school students from more than 50 countries including Brazil, Japan, and Germany.

According to YFU Volunteer Coordinator Jennifer Talarico, "July and August are key months for international students who hope to enroll in Lake County high schools as part of our educational exchange program. We need to hear from families who would like to provide shelter and support in exchange for a wonderfully enriching experience. For example, American traditions can take on deeper meaning as you introduce them to your international son or daughter. A casual family chat about world events can reveal new perspectives. Your dinner table may include wonderful dishes when your exchange student cooks up a taste of home for all to sample."

Families need not have a child to send abroad in order to be a host. Families are responsible for providing their student with a loving, caring environment and three meals a day. Exchange students can share a bedroom with a age-appropriate, same-sex sibling. For more information contact David Becker, a Grayslake-based Volunteer Representative at 548-7879.

Moore attends state conference

Illinois State Rep. Andrea Moore (R-Libertyville) joined state legislators across the country at the National Conference of State Legislators annual meeting in Indianapolis.

Moore said this year's annual meeting included informational sessions, including briefings on school violence, state actions on the tobacco settlement and protecting privacy in the information age.

League supports rail expansion

The Board of the Lake County Municipal League approved a resolution in support of the proposed use of the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern Railway as a commuter rail line, as determined in a Phase 1 feasibility study by Metra.

The Elgin, Joliet and Eastern Railway starts in Waukegan and goes in a southerly direction through Lake County.

Most residents oppose leaf burning ban in Lakeland poll

Opponents outnumber supporters by 3 to 1 margin

The results of Lakeland Newspapers straw poll on leaf burning are in—and the response was overwhelming.

The newspaper received 134 responses to the poll from residents throughout the county. The vast majority of those who responded opposed a ban on leaf burning.

People who voted "no" on the question of whether they favored a leaf burning ban in unincorporated Lake County outnumbered supporters of a ban by about a 3-to-1 margin. Rough poll numbers show 102 respondents—or about 76 percent—voting against a ban, with 32 respondents—or 24 percent—supporting it. (It should be noted the poll was not scientifically done and only represents a sample of some of Lakeland's subscribers).

Opinions varied throughout the county, but the strongest opposition to a ban seemed to come from the Fox Lake, Lake Villa and Antioch areas.

A Fox Lake couple, who responded to the survey, said without leaf burning there would be no other way to dispose of the huge volumes of leaves in rural areas.

"It has been an autumn tradition to burn leaves in Lake County," the letter stated. "There are still many rural areas with families that have farms and large wooded lots. It is unjust to thrust this economic burden upon these people. Who's going to pay to have those leaves hauled away?"

A resident of Antioch Township says banning leaf burning puts a financial hardship on homeowners because of the cost involved in hauling away leaves.

"I am for leaf burning and so are quite a few of my neighbors, espe-

The last time Illinois Gov. George Ryan visited Volo Bog, he came with a promise to acquire more state open space lands.

On a hot July Wednesday, he returned, with announcement of the Open Land Trust, an initiative that will help local governments acquire space for future generations.

"I got educated when I came out here in the campaign. This will be for future generations to come. I have 13 grandkids—it goes well beyond us," Ryan said.

Date rape drug case proceeds

Three men plead guilty to charges

By JOHN ROSZKOWSKI
Regional Editor

Three of four men who were arrested in connection with a large seizure of the "date rape" drug Gamma Hydroxybutyrate back in January have pleaded guilty to drug charges.

The case broke on Jan. 14 when two of the men, Michael Castellano, 30, of Gurnee and Travis Rader, 27, of Antioch allegedly delivered a large amount of the drug, commonly called GHB, to an undercover officer at Gurnee Mills shopping center. Both men were arrested.

A short time later, police arrested Mark A. Crawford, 43, of Antioch. Michael D. Brothers, 34, of Kenosha, Wis., was apprehended the following day on Jan. 15.

McIntyre begins her run for judgeship

Judge Maureen P. McIntyre announces her candidacy for the position of Circuit Court Judge of the 19th Judicial Circuit, consisting of McHenry and Lake Counties, in the March 21, 2000 primary election.

Appointed an associate judge by the sitting Circuit Judges in 1996, Judge McIntyre said she is seeking the circuit judgeship because "I believe, with my background, philosophy and values, I can contribute to our system of justice and faithfully fulfill the duties of a circuit judge. In addition to hearing cases as associate judges do, circuit judges select associate judges and make policy and procedural decisions."

Looking over the past three years, Judge McIntyre said she has enjoyed all aspects of the position. Currently as special assignment judge handling civil and misdemeanor court calls, Judge McIntyre said "I can't think of an area of law where I have a preference. Each area offers something special and is very interesting." She added, "Traffic court is fascinating. I enjoy the people contact. I think it is good, as a judge, to have contact with the public. Traffic court, for most people, is their only contact with our judicial system. It is important that they leave that experience believing they have been treated fairly and that our system works."

Serving as a judge is also a teaching process for judges, Judge McIntyre said, noting that when not presiding in a court room, considerable time is spent reading and researching law.

Prior to her appointment as a judge, Judge McIntyre and her husband, Ray Henehan, were partners in the law firm of Henehan and McIntyre, Ltd., engaged in a litigation practice with concentration in family law and personal injury cases. Her husband continues with the Cary practice. For three years she was an attorney with Pretzel and Stouffer, Chartered, in Chicago, working as a trial attorney with concentration in tort defense litigation. In addition, for two years she was a law clerk with Pretzel, Stouffer, Nolan and Rooney, Chicago, assisting attorneys in trial preparation.

Judge McIntyre was licensed to practice law in the State of Illinois in May 1976. She received her juris doctor degree with honors from the Illinois Institute of Technology, Chicago-Kent College of Law, in February 1976, where she was also awarded the American Jurisprudence Award in insurance law. Judge McIntyre received her bachelor of arts degree from Fordham University, New York and did graduate studies in history at the University of Illinois prior to entering law school.

Currently a member of the McHenry County Mediation Advisory committee, the Illinois Judges Association, McHenry County Bar Association and Illinois State Bar Association, Judge McIntyre was chairperson of the Family Law Section of the McHenry County Bar Association. Until her appointment to the bench she participated in the McHenry County arbitration program for the 19th Judicial Circuit and was an arbitrator for the American Arbitration Association.

AT A GLANCE

A DIGEST OF STORIES MAKING HEADLINES THROUGHOUT OUR REGION

Mundelein Village Hall burglarized

Mundelein—The Mundelein Village Hall was burglarized overnight between July 21 and 22, police said.

Unknown persons entered the village hall through a broken basement window, said Sgt. Paul Werfelmann of the Mundelein Police Department.

Once inside, the individuals broke windows and doors to enter six or seven offices. Among the rooms entered were the village clerk's office and a computer room, Werfelmann said.

Only $50 in cash was found missing from the building. Police have no damage estimate at this time.

Werfelmann said fingerprints were found at the scene. The incident is currently under investigation.

The break-in was discovered by an employee at the village hall while reporting for work on July 22.

N. Chicago man arrested for assault

Gurnee—A North Chicago man was arrested on July 21 in Gurnee after a resident reported that the man had sexually assaulted her 6-year-old daughter, police said.

Gurnee Police were called to the corner of O'Plaine Road and Grand Avenue at approximately 7:50 p.m. The caller, a resident of a nearby apartment complex, discovered that her daughter had been sexually assaulted by Jackie E. Hughes, 43, of 1200 Victoria in North Chicago, police said.

After calling the police, Hughes left the scene in his 1988 Pontiac Grand Prix, traveling south on O'Plaine Road towards Washington Street. Police were able to stop Hughes' car at Washington Street and Route 21, based on the description given by the victim's mother, police said.

An investigation conducted by Gurnee Police and detectives revealed that Hughes is a registered sex offender in North Chicago and is currently on probation for previous sex offenses, police said.

Hughes is being charged with one count of predatory criminal sexual assault of a child, which is a class X felony. He could potentially face a prison term of not less than 50 years and not more than 60 years.

The Gurnee Police Department is currently investigating this case.

Fund-raisers to benefit ill child

Round Lake—Many area fund-raisers for Magee Middle School student Reggie Garay are set for Saturday. This spring, Reggie fell ill from hepatitis and underwent a liver transplant, and may also need a bone marrow transplant. Proceeds from these fund-raisers will go into a trust fund for Reggie.

First State Bank of Round Lake (1777 N. Cedar Lake Rd., Round Lake Beach) will have a bake sale from 9-1 p.m.

Lakeland Community Bank (935 W. Rollins Rd., Round Lake Heights) will have a bake sale from 9-1 p.m.

Sears Hardware (340 E. Rollins Rd., Round Lake) will have a bake sale/car wash from 10-3 p.m.

Kristof's Entertainment Center (421 W. Rollins Rd., Round Lake Beach) will have a bake sale/car wash from 10-3 p.m.

The Round Lake Beach Men's Club (1102 N. Cedar Lake Rd.) will have a bake sale/car wash from 9-3 p.m.

National Nite Out to be held

Round Lake—The Round Lake Area Park District is inviting all area residents to the 16th Annual National Nite Out on August 3.

This crime prevention event promotes safety and neighborhood unity as well as community partnerships with police to prevent crime, drugs, and violence.

Villages participating include Round Lake, Round Lake Park, Round Lake Beach, Round Lake Heights, and Hainesville.

Each village will have their own walk beginning at 6 p.m. and ending at 7:30 p.m.. Please contact your local village for specific routes and times.

Afterward, bus service will transport walkers from each community to the Round Lake Area Park District for all the fun Nite Out festivities including food, games, and entertainment from 7:30 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Walk-A-Thon raises funds for charity

Wadsworth—Take a walk and raise money for a good cause. Join the LaCASA/Zacharias Center's Annual Family Walk-A-Thon on August 29, and help sexual assault and abuse survivors throughout Lake County.

Pre-registration for this free event is encouraged to allow adequate time for participants to collect pledges.

The Walk-A-Thon will follow a scenic, two-mile course through Van Patten Woods at Sterling Lake off of Route 173 East of Route 41 in Wadsworth.

Day-of-event registration will begin at 8 a.m., followed by a warm-up/pre walk activities period, with the Walk-A-Thon starting at 8:30 a.m.

An invigorating Fitness Walk led by Esther Gutierrez-Sloan, founder of Salsa Aerobics, Inc. will be featured in addition to the Walk-A-Thon.

For more information or to register and get a pledge card for LaCASA's Annual Family Walk-A-Thon or Fitness Walk, contact LaCASA at (847) 244-1187.

Volo residents hear 'no annexation'

Fox Lake—Just before residents of Fisher Estates sounded their dismay and anger at being caught in boundary warfare between Volo and Fox Lake, Volo trustees at a separate meeting adopted a resolution not to annex the upscale subdivision in south Grant Township.

The announcement by the Volo village attorney at an open forum at Grant High School did little to smooth over ill feelings held by Fisher residents toward Volo over a recent boundary expansion along Route 12 to Big Hollow School.

Most of the 92 persons crowded into the high school lecture room said they were caught unaware by the Volo action taken to pave the way for construction of a Home Depot store and a large townhouse complex.

Prostitution arrest made

Libertyville—On July 23 there was an arrest for prostitution at De Tendevious, 158 East Cook Avenue.

Meloni A. Goodson, 28, of 1112 Kishwaukee in Rockford, an employee of De Tendevious, was arrested on one count of prostitution, a Class A felony, at the establishment.

De Tendevious was closed down by the Village of Libertyville Building Department for several building code violations involving electrical work that was done without a permit or inspection by the department.

As of July 27, De Tendevious was given permission to regain regular business under their original zoning permit that was filed on April 16, 1999 with the village.

The establishment's zoning certificate only allows for tanning, nails, waxing and aqua-floats. The business cards for the establishment, however, state that massages are offered.

Goodson was arrested after an outside undercover agent hired by the Libertyville Police Department discovered acts of prostitution taking place. She was released on a $100 recognizance bond. A court date in August is pending.

De Tendevious is located two blocks west of the Village Hall and their back door opens up to the parking lot of the police department.

Lindenhurst woman wins game show

Lindenhurst—Mary Klus of Lindenhurst made the best investment of her life when she bought an Illinois lottery ticket. Through the Illinois' Luckiest instant game, she turned $1 into $15,200 and gained 15 minutes of fame.

Klus won the money playing "Force Field" and "$100,000 Pinball." The show was taped on July 6 and aired on the July 24 edition of Illinois' Luckiest, the only game show produced in Illinois. With her winnings, Klus hopes to travel, possibly to Europe.

The Lindenhurst resident and 17 other contestants from across the state competed on-air for prizes of up to $100,000 or more. The game show is taped at WGN-TV studios in Chicago and is broadcast on several TV stations across Illinois. It has five main games (with three contestants) that rotate in and out of the weekly lineup, plus the grand finale game, $100,000 Pinball, which all 18 contestants take part in.

Teacher charged with sexual assault

Waukegan—A Department of Children and Family Services hotline proved to be an important factor which led to the arrest of a Waukegan school teacher.

Linda Olson, 48, of Wauconda, was arrested by Lake County Sheriff's Department police just two working days after the hotline call came in. The victim is a 16-year-old boy.

"We received the information from the DCFS hotline. We work hand-in-hand with the DCFS to eliminate multiple interviews of victims," Rick White, of the Lake County Advocacy Center, said.

The center works with victims who are youth to age 18. The 16-year-old is, "one of the older cases we've had," White said. "We have a home in Waukegan where we can interview victims. The victim and the school were both very cooperative."

Olson posted 10 percent of a $100,000 bond in Lake County Circuit Court on July 20. A pre-trial hearing was held Tuesday.

Village participates in National Nite Out

Mundelein—It's time to get out your flashlights and head over to the Mundelein train station to participate in the National Nite Out.

The Mundelein Police Department will once again be participating in this national event to fight crime. The festivities will be held on Aug. 3 from 6 until 10 p.m. at the Metra train station located on Archer Avenue.

From 6 until 9 p.m., several activities will be offered, including games, pony rides, bingo, and a DJ. Hot dogs and hamburgers, donated by local businesses, will be served.

Peter Heid, also known as "Mr. Science," will be on-hand at the science booth, offering a variety of activities for people of all ages. From 6 until 6:30 p.m., Heid will help participants make their own "Gak." Marker Magic will be offered from 6:30 until 7 p.m., followed by balloon piercing from 7 until 7:30 p.m. Additional planned events will include "bubble tubes" and "make your own 'slime'."

The evening will culminate in a flashlight walk at 9:15 p.m., starting at the train station and proceeding towards Route 45 and then to Seymour.

Galloping growth story being repeated

Tiny Volo, Lake County's youngest municipality, is poised to plunge into a tidal wave of go go growth following a script written earlier by Vernon Hills and Gurnee. It's the classic splurge in suburbia of rooftops, strip malls, big box stores and seas of asphalt.

Volo's aggressive growth posture has sparked a turf war with Fox Lake reminiscent of the boundary battles involving Libertyville, Vernon Hills and Mundelein. Buildable open lands are ripe for the picking. Shades of George S. Patton!

The ingredients for explosive growth are present in the hamlet, only a few years ago the intersection of Rtes. 12 and 120 with scant commercial development. What's it take to vault on to the fast track? Open space to the horizon. Well-connected advisers. A growth oriented mayor and council. Plentiful utilities. Ideal highway connections. Abundant supply of developers. Sleepy, unaware neighbors. Favorable interest rates.

Volo's got it all. Ready or not, here comes Lake County's next chapter of galloping growth.

Primary colors: Dems parity push

Because of a comparatively late primary (March 21), a good bit of the heat and excitement of the Republican race for the 2000 nomination for President will have been expended. College of Lake County political scientist John Steinke sees Texas Gov. George W. Bush having the GOP nomination locked up by then with big state support from California and New York.

Illinois' primary results will be secondary to the two big states and a host of other primaries. Steinke calls attention to the fact that about half the states, representing 75 percent of party convention delegates, will conduct caucuses and primaries between the end of January and March 14. Bush will benefit mightily from the "front-loaded" calendar, according to Steinke.

The later primary suits professional politicians just fine in Illinois. They eschew intermingling national politics with state affairs, except, of course, when it serves a specific purpose. The pros will be focusing on what impacts Illinois. Next year's primary, electors will nominate candidates for Congressional, General Assembly and county-wide offices.

The local focus, though, doesn't preclude voters from involving themselves in Presidential politics. Under Illinois' open primary where voters can crossover, Steinke anticipates "mischief voting" where Republicans will be moved to mark for Sen. Bill Bradley over Vice President Al Gore, for example. GOP "crossing" happens all the time and was responsible in no small part for the abberation of Carole Moseley-Braun getting elected to the U.S. Senate 1992.

What can be anticipated is that party regulars, under the cover of national media attention over the future President, will be working mightily for control of the Illinois General Assembly, where the big prize will be reapportionment. Nowhere will the battle be more intense than Lake County where GOP leaders are determined to retire two Democratic newcomers, State Sen. Terry Link (D-Vernon Hills) and State Rep. Susan Garrett (D-Lake Forest).

Both Link and Garrett have made remarkable strides in heading Lake County in the direction of a genuine two-party system. Lake County's part of the upscale North Shore, once sacrosanct GOP territory, now is a swing district. Individually and together, Link and Garrett are tearing down Republican walls. The GOP high command, both in Lake County and at the state level, not so surprisingly, finds this unacceptable. Thus the stage is set for an all-out, no-holds-barred confrontation next year.

The battle for dominance in Lake County and the General Assembly could well overshadow who's taking over the White House.

Staffers go to charm school

Credit Gurnee officials with the decision to polish up the customer service skills of village employees. Village Admin. James Hayner was directed by the council to "nominate" employees for classes offered by the College of Lake County Public Service Institute.

In a pilot program, employees in public works, building department and engineering, staff members who come in contact with the public regularly, are the first attendees. Sounds like a good idea. There's nothing more irritating to a taxpayer, who pays the salary, to be given heavy-handed treatment by an uncaring public employee.

Come to think of it, staffers in more than a few local governmental offices would benefit from some charm school instruction.

VIEWPOINT

Island cottage Bear great's home

Hugh Gallarneau embodied the Chicago Bear spirit epitomized by the Monsters of the Midway nickname. Tough. Uncompromising. Unspoiled. Never-say-die work ethic. Approachable. Team-oriented. Goal-driven.

Gallarneau was the fastest, most powerful runner, highest scorer on a championship, always contending team. He was the Walter Payton of his day. The curly-haired running back was a summertime Lake County resident for more than 40 years.

Hugh and his wife, Nancie, a spectacular water skier, used his earnings from the highly successful Bear post war years to buy a cottage on Crabapple Island in Fox Lake. The Gallarneau family summered there until two years ago when illness forced the sale.

Besides their friendliness, the Gallarneau family became known for their "aquamobile," a half-car, half-boat vehicle that transported them to the island where there are no roads. One of their neighbors in the early days at Crabapple Island was another footballer, Harry Hall of Waukegan, star quarterback at the University of Illinois during the Red Grange era who took up law instead of following professional sports.

Playing both offense and defense, Gallarneau led the Bears to a 23-2 record with one title in 1941-42 before becoming a decorated Marine in World War II. The Chicago native was uncannily successful in all his pursuits including a business career with service at Marshall Field and Hart, Schaffner and Marx.

Besides setting a fast pace for fashionable male attire, Hugh established the precedent of Bear luminaries making their home in Lake County. He was 82 when overcome by a lengthy bout with cancer at his home in Northbrook earlier in July.

Media imbalance

ing liberal media. The answer to my friend's question encapsulates the charge of a biased national media in the U.S. today.

Natural golf

Ben Sargent never has swung a golf club in his life and he isn't likely to take up the game now even though he's the father of Lake County newest golf layout, Stonegate Orchard on Rte. 60 between Ivanhoe and Volo. Sargent's family owned and farmed more than 600 acres on both sides of the highway for many years. Ben's father was a medical professional who acquired the land as a hobby, but the son took up farming as a vocation with Stonegate Farm becoming noted far and wide for apples and eggs.

How did a non-golfer get involved in building a golf course? Easy.

"I didn't want to see a lot of rooftops sprout from the land. So I thought a golf course would be a good way of keeping the farm open and uncluttered," Sargent related. A nationally known designer used the natural rolling terrain and pockets of mature trees and conifers that Ben and his father planted over the years to incorporate into the course.

Farm fields became wide grassy fairways. Natural wetlands never cultivated by the Sargents now are challenging hazards. Sargent likes the design concept that called for limited earth moving. Only the elevated tees and greens required excavation. The daily fee golf course of 218 acres will be surrounded by corn and bean fields. There are no sounds of passing traffic. The vegetation and land contour still are recognizable. Ben Sargent likes that.

Gore-isms abound

Some of Vice President Al Gore's classic verbal gaffs hit the Internet over the weekend. If we repeated the entire E-mail print-out, there might be an impression that this column is biased. Here are a few favorites: "A low voter turnout is an indication of fewer people going to the polls." "It isn't pollution that's harming the environment. It's the impurities in our air and water that are doing it." "Democrats under the importance of bondage between a mother and a child." "If we didn't succeed, we run the risk of failure." And, of course, the all-time favorite Gore-ism. "As many of you know, I was very instrumental in the founding of the Internet."

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Cigarette anyone?

I have just finished reading the latest "Jingle from Pringle" (July 9). Yes, I have a cigarette type boat. No, I don't live in Chicago. But, maybe she's right.

We should get those boats off the water. Since jet skis annoy me, they should probably go as well. Also, I am sure there are many fishermen that have been bothered by an early morning water skier, so let's get rid of all the Mastercrafts and Malibus.

What about those fishermen? Those Bass boats go pretty fast, so they should go too. Let's not forget those cabin cruisers. They are big, have silly names; and people seem to be enjoying themselves far too much—so they will have to go also. Since I am sure someone has a problem with their neighbor's 18 foot Bayliner, we better get rid of all of the rest of the boats just to be safe.

Oh, and don't get me started on those channel clogging, half-barrel laden, pontoon boats.

PARTY LINES

PARTY LINES, THE LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

Move not popular

Lake Forest Mayor Howard Kerr is doing his best not to look like an ogre by emphasizing publicly that moving city public works equipment to Ft. Sheridan is one of "several options." Public sentiment favors leaving the city garage on Laurel Avenue. Residents cringe at the thought of parking trucks, mowers and salt piles on 14 scenic acres at the former military installation long sought by the city.

Leaf students

Members of the Grant Township board planned to attend the second public meeting on the proposed leaf burning ban en masse. The meeting Wednesday, at Grass Lake School was in preparation for the third and final session to gather public input set for 7 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 4 at Grant High School. In theory, the public meetings are designed to provide members of the Lake County Board with citizen input before they vote on the ban question sometime before the leaves begin falling again.

All wet?

State Board of Higher Education officials may face a major obstacle if they try to build the proposed University Center of Lake County at the College of Lake County campus.

According to John J. Sabuco, president of Eldertree, Stoneoak and Brookings Inc. of Flossmoor, an environmental consulting group, the proposed site on the CLC campus is located on natural wetlands.

Supporters of the Lakehurst Shopping Center site were quick to Hoselton: Still at odds with board.

Hunter: Good for the taxpayer.

pounce on Sabuco's comments as another reason why the University Center should be located in Waukegan.

"I have spent many painful years watching developers circumvent the systems of protections that are intended to preserve wetlands," Sabuco wrote in a report, sent to Illinois Gov. George Ryan.

The issue certainly "whets" the appetite and will no doubt bring a "flood of responses" from both supporters and detractors of the CLC site.

Treasure hunting

Fox Lake Mayor Jim Pappas thanked trustees for their efforts to secure state funds for a fourth fire station for the village. Trustees Kevin Hunter and Greg Murrey and Pappas had initial meetings in Springfield, before the Illinois First program came out.

"We met with our reps and were told how to access these funds. Hunter took this on as a personal mission and wrote the necessary letters and requests. Without his efforts, we probably would not have received those funds. He single-handedly saved the taxpayers a great deal of money," Pappas said.

Pappas said Hunter has continually saved taxpayers funds, including freezing the village's taxes for the last two years, and brought in funds which will improve the village hall, replace a roof and help with ADA compliance.

Majority counts

Many Wadsworth residents are wondering why Mayor Evelyn Hoselton is going to so much trouble just to appoint a temporary village attorney and spend thousands of taxpayer dollars when eventually, she'll have to bring another name to the table for the position of permanent village attorney.

With the exception of newly appointed Trustee Gary Penrith, the trustees have given the big thumbs down to many a mayoral appointment including Patricia Page for village treasurer. The board is sitting pretty, knowing majority is on their side—for now.

JFK Jr. had good parenting

As one journalist described him, John F. Kennedy Jr. was an "engaging, good-natured, handsome young man from a famous family."

As his uncle, Sen. Edward (Ted) Kennedy, said, "He had amazing grace, and he could laugh at the absurdity of too much pomp and circumstance."

And the media coverage of the tragic deaths of JFK Jr. and the Besette sisters was "too much," it was excessive. Yet, most of us, I am sure, will particularly remember one anecdote from Sen. Ted Kennedy's eulogy:

"Once, when they asked John what he would do if he went into politics and was elected president, he said, 'I guess the first thing I'd call up Uncle Teddy and gloat.'"

"I loved that," said Uncle Teddy. "It was so much like his father."

I have another favorite Kennedy anecdote:

In the early 1960s, before the children, Caroline and John, went to bed in the evening, they would be brought to the president's White House office for a romp with their father. He would tease John by calling him Sam. Once, the little boy snapped back, "Daddy's a dodo head."

To which JFK replied, "John Kennedy Jr., how dare you call the president of the United States a dodo head?"

Those who knew them say Jack and Jacqueline were good parents. She once said, "If you bungle raising your children, I don't think whatever else you do well matters very much."

Speaking of presidents, our current National Embarrassment has begun comparing himself to one of the greatest athletes ever, calling himself "the Michael Jordan of politics."

The man has no shame, he boggles the mind. Journalists call him "The Great Philanderer." Back in Arkansas he was known as "Slick

THE PFARR CORNER

Jerry Pfarr

Willie." His recent mistress called him "The Creep."

If Bill Clinton wasn't such a phony he would be laughable.

On a brighter note, have you noticed how deliriously happy the football fanatics have become? Deprived of any interesting sports since last January, they already are beaming and giddy because soon there will be exhibition games and then for real games.

And when the Chicago Bears visit Green Bay, you can be sure Packer fans will have provided a handicapped parking space for Cade McNown, the new Bears quarterback. After all, he used one of those when he was a college star at UCLA.

Speaking of the Bears, my son Tony was sifting through childhood possessions when he came across an autographed photo of Doug Plank, a very popular Bears player in the 1970s.

I got the autograph for Tony back then when he was about 10 years old and Plank came to Antioch with other Bears for a winter basketball game against local "celebrities," businessmen, cops and firemen.

I told Plank my family had come to Antioch from Green Bay where Tony was rightfully and religiously raised as a Packer fan. So, Plank autographed the big, glossy photo with this comment: "Sorry, Tony, but the Pack will never be back."

Well, the Pack came back but whatever happened to Doug Plank? He was cool; I'm sure he's doing well somewhere.

Casino gambling in Illinois—Opening the flood-gates

The reports that I have read about the legislative session conclude that the two biggest winners were Arlington Park race course owner Richard Duchossois and Rosemont Mayor Donald Stephens. Duchossois won a large property tax break for his race course plus millions more that he will derive from a casino at Rosemont. Of course, Stephens was the biggest winner with the casino that will soon come to Rosemont with estimates that a "boat in the moat" there will generate $400 million a year.

Considering that a casino at Rosemont will dwarf any of the existing casinos and the change in law to allow dockside casino gambling, it is a stretch to believe Gov. George Ryan when he says the action did not violate his campaign pledge against the expansion of gambling. The gambling flood-gates are wide open.

At a Lake County bill-signing ceremony, Ryan said that the prospects are real that gambling casinos are a probability in the future in the south suburbs, or in Lake County, or elsewhere. Everyone seems to want one, from what he said.

For those who lobbied against the expansion of gambling in Illinois, it was a David vs. Goliath match. The opponents had to lobby by calling on individual legislators, walking outside the legislative corridors button-

SEEING IT THROUGH

holing lawmakers, and doing other person-to-person work. The pro-gambling lobby had the luxury of using legislative offices for their lobbying effort. When it's an insider vs. outsider match, don't the insiders usually win?

There is only one way that gaming won't be expanded in Illinois in the near future. That is if Rosemont is as profitable as it is expected to be, that the clout that its investors will have will be used to stifle off other competitors by such expansion. It may be that for some time expansion will be limited to transferring gaming licenses from existing boats to more profitable locations rather than legislating new licenses.

When the primary elections roll around next spring, we may find that the legislators' votes on casino gambling may be a bigger issue than Gov. Ryan's $12 billion Illinois FIRST program. That will probably be more true in some of the Republican primaries because "anti-gambling" is at the heart of some of the conservative political groups that control many GOP primary elections. Those groups have indicated that they expect to target some who flip-flopped on their campaign pledges. It is one thing to target legislative races, but yet another to find and finance candidates to take up their cause.

The original intent when casino gambling was legislated has gone "by the boards." Casino boats were created to spur economic activity in depressed areas such as the Quad Cities were at the time. Also, Iowa was authorizing casino gambling and Illinois thought it wise to beat them to the punch. The original intent by limiting gambling on casinos that operate on navigable waters was to prevent the large Nevada-type casinos to operate in Illinois. The legislature's move to allow dockside casino gambling is the "foot in the door" that may eventually bring large gaming facilities and the "boat types" may one day be a thing of the past.

So, it is no longer about spurring the economy of depressed areas. Let's not be hypocritical. It's all about money. It's going for the gold. Rosemont isn't a depressed area and it will be the leading gambling revenue producer in Illinois for many years to come.

When one facility is expected to bring in at least $400 million in revenue in one year, that means that a lot of people are losing their "shirts and homes" to gambling.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

University should be central

There has been a substantial amount of press coverage regarding the site selection for the proposed Multi-University Center project. Since this site selection process is for an educational institution, it is appropriate that the selection process be completed by the State Board of Higher Education. This body should be allowed to make its site selection based on a site's ability to provide educational services and programs in the most cost effective, efficient, and effective manner. It is clear that the proposed site immediately adjacent to the College of Lake County's centrally located Grayslake campus is the best site from an educational standpoint.

This site offers the following advantages:

1. The site is centrally located within Lake County. Decisions on the selection of a site for the main College of Lake County campus and the present day High Technology campus were based on the fact that a centrally located campus would best serve the Lake County population. The success of these institutions in this central location is obvious and this same logic should be used in selecting a site for the Multi-University Center.

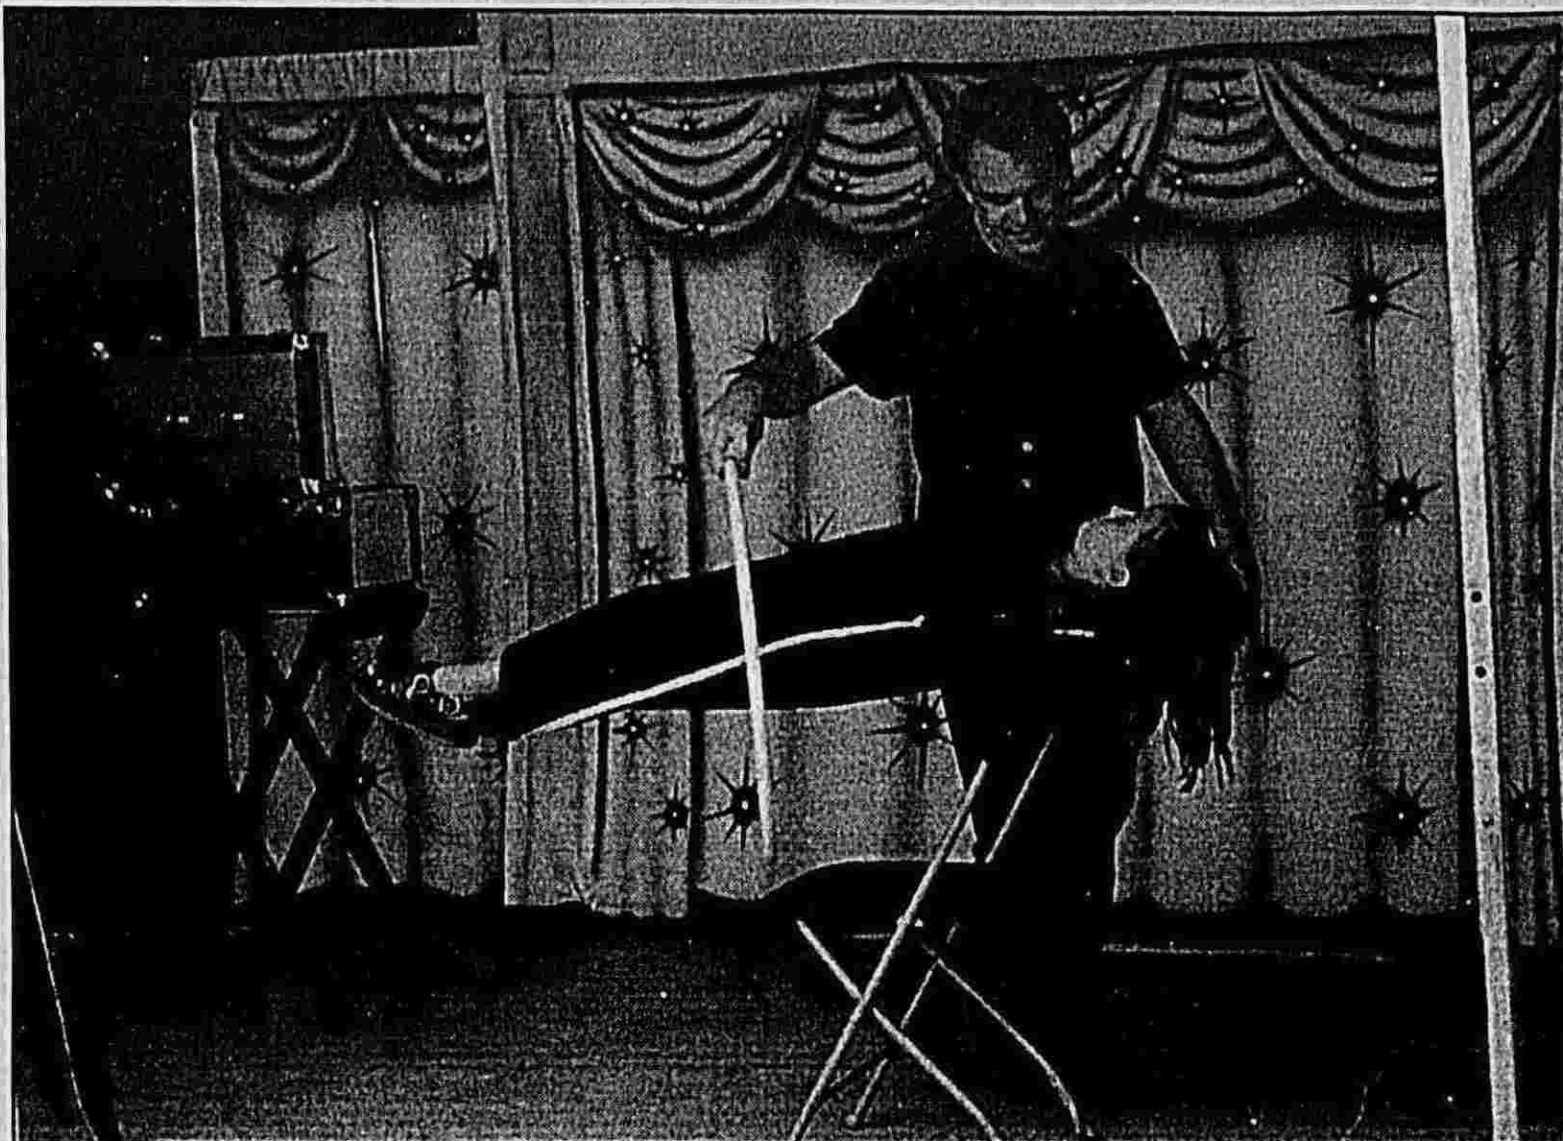

2. The location of the Multi-University Center adjacent to the existing educational facilities, will allow for the sharing of facilities and other resources between the Multi-University Center and the College of Lake County. This sharing of resources will reduce operating costs for the Multi-University Center which, in the long run, will reduce taxpayer costs for this facility.

3. Traffic is a county-wide problem and will need to be dealt with on roads throughout the county as the population increases within the county. A centrally located site reduces the length of vehicle trips by the users of the Multi-University Center. Ultimately, this is the best way to reduce any county-wide traffic impacts of this facility. Again, as the population center of the county moves north and west, this centrally located site will further reduce the amount of vehicle trip miles traveled.

Unfortunately, some of the public discussions regarding the final site selection for the Multi-University Center have not been the kind of high-level discussions that Lake County residents have a right to expect. In my opinion, these have been neither productive nor insightful, and contribute nothing to making the best site selection for this facility. Ultimately, we should all be positive about the opportunity of Lake County to host the Multi-University Center. While I strongly support the College of Lake County site as the best educational choice, I believe that everyone in the county should be positive about the final sites under consideration by the State Board of Education.

County art league hosts fine festival

"Meet me at the Harbor, 'neighbor' meet me at the Fair," Art Fair that is. It's time again for the Lake County Art League, in cooperation with the North Point Marina to present their annual art festival.

It's not too early to mark your calendar for Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 7 and 8 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. both days.

The Lake County Art League Fine Arts Festival, noted for the quality of selected fine arts and fine crafts found at previous festivals hopes to outdo itself this year.

Returning to the Fair will be your favorite artists. New this year, will be the added attraction of a portrait painter, Linda Kollacks of Libertyville, who furthered her education in Belgium. Her portraits are rich in impressionistic color, and reflect the nature of her subject taking you beyond "the outward image" in to the very "soul" of the subject. Permanent collections exhibiting her work include hotel 1815 in Waterloo, Belgium; oil painting or Pentecost event incorporating 48 portraits of historical church leaders in the Christian center in Rhode-St-Genese, Belgium and an oil portrait of the late Baudouin, King of the Belgians, and his Queen Fabiola in the Sas Hotel in Brussels.

Popular artists returning again this year include Everett Misunas of Waukegan, Virginia Morrisseau of Lindenhurst, Korky Shklair also of Waukegan, Lauren Wismer of Gurnee, Ray Splers of Waukegan and many others that have established themselves as artists. This is only a sampling. Come to the Festival and meet the artists.

The North Point Marine is the largest marina on the Great Lakes. There is plenty of free parking, cooling Lake Michigan breezes, spacious exhibits, have a picnic, meet the artists. Have a delightful experience.

Come to the Festival on Saturday or Sunday, Aug. 7 and 8 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. both days. See you at the Fair. (The Marina is located at the east end of 7th Street in Winthrop Harbor. North/South access to 7th Street is Sheridan Road. East/West access to Sheridan Road is Russell Road, State Route 173 or Wadsworth Road.

Mary Pat Maddex Place dedicated for county

A drug-free housing program for homeless women and their children in Lake County was dedicated July 26 in memory of the late Mary Pat Maddex, who headed the Lake County office of the state's Department of Children and Family Services (DCFS) before her death from cancer in 1998.

The dedication ceremony was in the atrium of the Lake County Building, 18 N. County St., Waukegan. Exact location of the facility was kept confidential for the privacy and protection of the women and their children.

"It's a great way to honor her and inspire us to continue her great work," said Judge Margaret Mullen, president of the Safe Housing Advisory Board. She praised Maddex for being a tireless advocate for women and their children, and recalled how a drug-free residential facility had been a longtime dream.

Several years ago after a Family Court session, Maddex had shared her frustrations with Mullen.

"The women get out of treatment and they're doing so well," judge recalled Maddex as saying "But many of them go back to a drug-infested housing project where it's very difficult for them to continue their recovery. Wouldn't it be great if they could go back to a sober housing project?"

Mullen said she and Maddex enlisted the support of U.S. Rep. John Porter, (R-Lake County) and his staff. They arranged a meeting between officials of the federal Housing and Urban Development (HUD) program and Maddex, Mullen and other Safe Housing supporters. HUD's commitment to providing financial assistance was a big step in helping Maddex' dream become a reality.

Representatives of human service agencies serving on the Lake County Women's Treatment Network also championed the cause.

Mullen said the Safe Housing initiative combines the services of DCFS, the Lake County court system, Catholic Charities, the Lake County Residential Development Company (LCRDC) and the Northern Illinois Council on Alcoholism and Substance Abuse (NICASA).

She said the focus of the program is to build a stable foundation for family to become self-sufficient. nine apartments will be available to provide women and children to live in an environment which supports their sobriety. Alcohol and other drugs will not be allowed in the apartments.

Judy Fried, executive director of NICASA, said the new facility is a most fitting tribute to the memory of Maddex.

"Mary Pat was such a selfless person," Fried said. "Because I so admired her dedication and resourcefulness, I wanted NICASA to be involved in supporting and helping develop this much-needed program."

Mary Pat's sister, Barbara Maddex, a social worker for Central Baptist Family Services, was one of the speakers at the dedication. She said several members of the family attended the ceremony.

Barbara said one of the most difficult things Mary Pat had to do as the cancer progressed was to give up her seat on the Safe Housing Advisory Board.

"My sister and I lived together," Barbara said. "We didn't talk about work much but we did talk about this project. Just a few weeks before she died she came home and said she had to turn over her place on the board to Mary Jane (Dybas, also of DCFS). It was very hard for her to do."

"We are extremely proud that something is coming out of her passion for the things she believed in," Barbara Maddex said. "It has helped us deal with our grief."

MINDING YOUR OWN BUSINESS

Don Taylor

Marketing Power Principles: Tools you can use

For more than a decade, I've defined marketing as creating, satisfying and keeping customers. Great marketing will not guarantee your business success any more than having a fast stockcar will guarantee a win in the Daytona 500. There are many factors involved in any successful effort.

In business, success begins with marketing. In marketing, success begins with customers. Yes, you must have desirable products or services, fair prices, advantages and benefits, good promotion, a convenient location and good people. These elements are prerequisites to creating customers.

You will not need timely financial statements, inventory management techniques, organizational charts, personnel procedures or a well-trained staff if there are no customers. Marketing - creating customers - comes first.

Marketing is not new. The basic elements of the marketing mix were around for many centuries before University professors began to expound on them. The wheel never made a dime until he found a customer willing to pay for the convenience the wheel could bring.

I believe there are some power principles you can apply to your business that will boost sales, profits and customer satisfaction. Consider the following thoughts. Perhaps, you can make them work for you.

Power Principles

• All customers are not created equal. Customers are different. Some are worth much more to you than others. The 80-20 rule is in force here. It is likely that 20 percent of your customers generate 80 percent of your profit.

So pay attention to your customers. Find answers to these questions: 1) Which customers are most valuable to us? Why? 2) Which customers have made referrals to us? How many? 3) Which customers are we pleasing the most? Why? and 4) Which customers are our largest gross profit producers.

These are basic questions, but most small-business owners don't have ready answers. So work on the answers and give those customers you identify as important to your success some high-level customer service.

• Make a great offer. The marketing process picks up speed when you make a strong offer of your products and/or services. A great offer tells your most valuable customers and potential valuable customers how you can solve their problems, satisfy their desires or increase their pleasures in life. Remember, there are only two things people buy: solutions to problems and good feelings.

• Show me the money. No, that's not how it works. Show me the benefits, show me the results, show me the rewards and I'll give you my money.

If you can't show me, you can't sell me. If I'm not sold, I'm not satisfied. Nothing grows sales (and profits) any more rapidly than showing your customers how they benefit by doing business with you. Yet, sadly, most small-business owners seldom spend much time thinking about their businesses from their customers' perspective.

Parcel gets less controversial tenant

Gold's Gym moves in, Auto Nation USA is still on hold

By KORRINA GROM
Staff Reporter

After the public upset surrounding the potential move-in of Auto Nation USA at the corner of Grand Avenue and Dilley's Road, Gold's Gym has begun construction at the site.

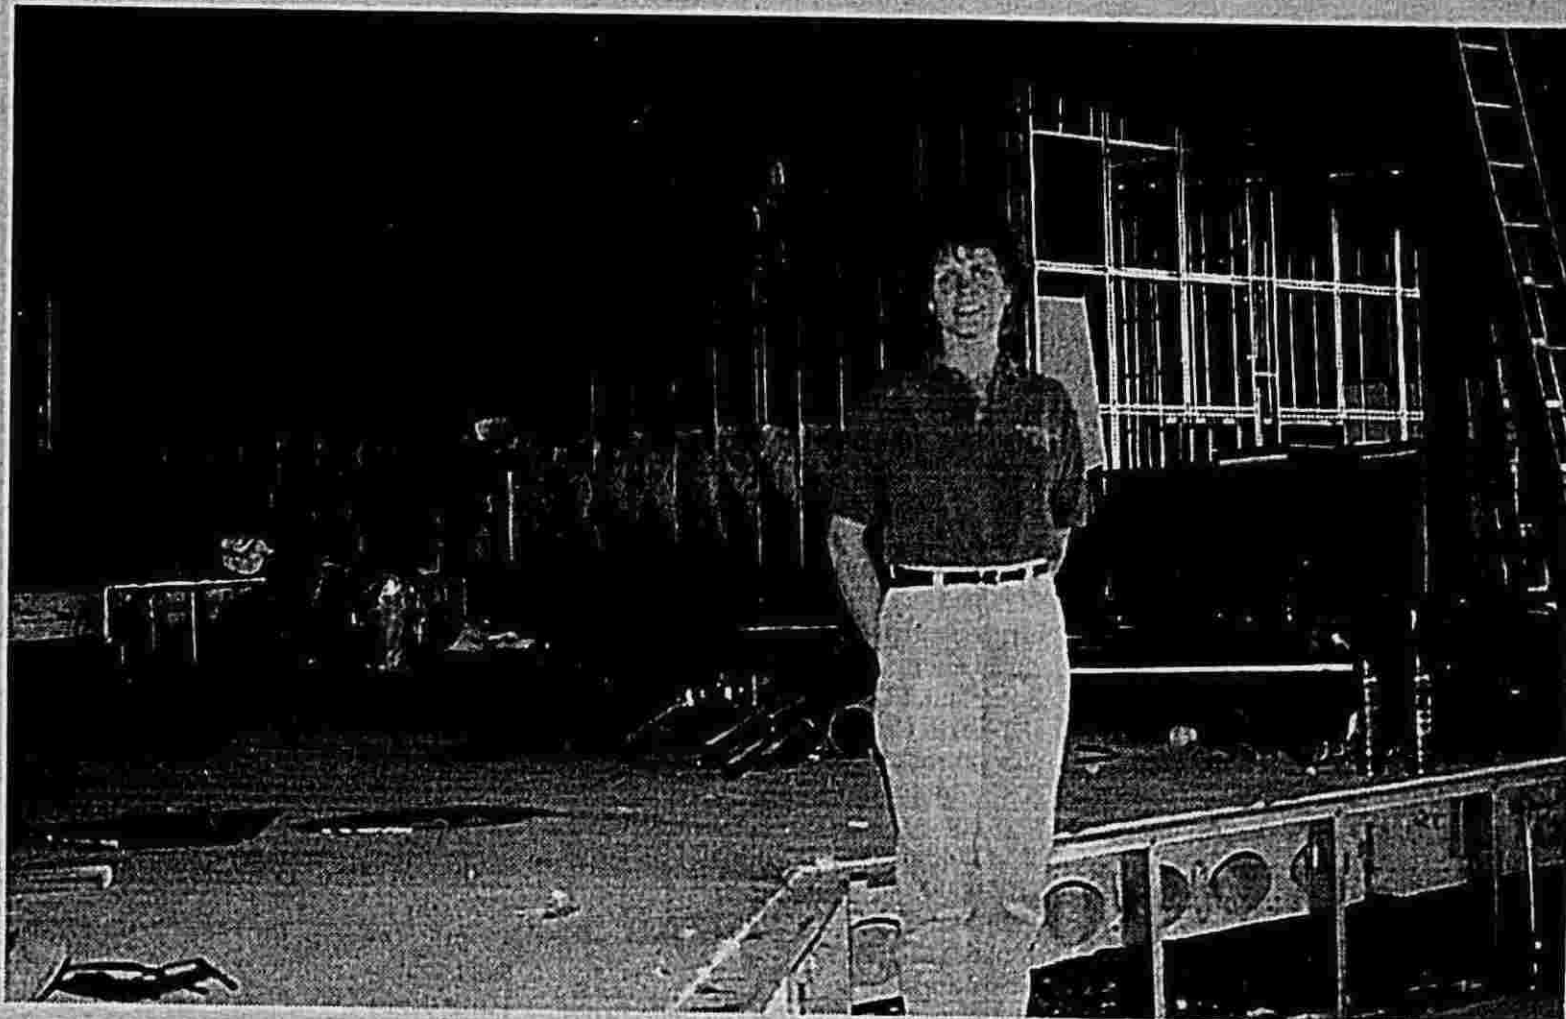

The 20,000 square-foot facility, which will offer state-of-the-art exercise equipment, is scheduled to open in October of this year, according to Tracy Cichocki, representative for Gold's Gym.

The public opposition to the development was essentially non-existent. The opposition to the Auto Nation development, however, was vast. During public hearings as far back as January of 1997, residents of nearby subdivisions, namely Pembroke and Westgate, voiced their opinions about the development.

Many residents cited traffic concerns, possible flooding, noise, lighting, and the potential negative impact on the resale values of homes as reasons to deny the development. Petitions were even being circulated by concerned residents, with signatures hovering near the 600 mark.

Representatives from Auto Nation reassured residents that test drives would be conducted outside of their subdivisions.

During one public hearing, a resident noted, "The fact is that this used auto mall would negatively impact our quality of life."

After much deliberation, along with changes to Auto Nation's initial plans, the development was approved by the Gurnee Plan Commission. In July of 1998, the village board unanimously approved the final planned unit development for Auto Nation. The project has not materialized.

According to Brad Burke, public information coordinator for the village, Auto Nation was working on the site but then stopped construction.

"We haven't heard that they were pulling out of the site," Burke said. "There is still activity on the site with the office complex."

In February of this year, the Gurnee Village Board approved the move-in of Gold's Gym to the Auto Nation site. The facility will feature 70 pieces of cardiovascular equipment, over 70 pieces of weight-assisted equipment, a complete aerobics program, fitness testing, nutrition counseling, spinning and a sauna, said Cichocki.

In addition, the facility may create a 10,000-square-foot addition. The opinions of members will be sought in order to determine what

Suburban Family magazine debuts

Suburban Family, a new publication designed to be a source of information and ideas for dealing with the day to day pressures of managing a family, will debut in mid-August.

Suburban Family, which is being published by Target Marketing Group of Grayslake, will feature monthly articles on a variety of topics from newborns to teenagers, educational programs, and arts and crafts. The articles are written by experts in the field or its staff of award-winning writers.

In the first issue, the magazine will feature articles on a Teen Mentoring Program, designed to help teenagers focus on their goals, lots of advice for getting the youngsters ready for going back to the classroom, and some tips for making lasting summer memories as school vacation fades.

"Our publication is designed to thrive on your input and to listen to our readers in bringing you the types of information you seek," said Rhonda Hetrick Burke, editor. "So if you have an idea for a feature, if you have a solution for a common parenting dilemma, give us a call, or e-mail us at Suburban Family.com."

The magazine will maintain a website at Suburban Family.com for more information.

Nominations sought for sixth annual Illinois Family Business of the Year competition

Which family businesses are the best in Illinois? You can help determine who they are by submitting nominations to the 1999 Illinois Family Business of the Year Awards program, co-sponsored by the family firms that support the Loyola University Chicago Family Business Center, and by Harris Trust & Savings Bank.

All family businesses headquartered in Illinois (except for those that are members of the Family Business Center) are eligible for this sixth annual competition. Nominations, which must be received by Friday, August 6, may be made by anyone: employees, colleagues, and family business owners themselves.

Past winners include Monarch Marketing group, Cozzini Inc., A. Finkl & Sons, Black Bros. Co., Nedlog Co., and Roman Inc., to name a few.

Awards will be presented in four categories: small (companies with fewer than 50 employees); medium (50-250); large (more than 250); and community service. Entrants will be judged on how successfully they have combined family and business, multi-generational family business involvement, contributions to the industry and community, and innovative strategy. The community service award will honor a company that endeavors to enhance its value to its communities by involving the lives of those it serves.

Once nominations are received, an application will be sent to the nominated business. Judging will be conducted by professionals in various fields and family-business owners. Applications must be received by Loyola no later than Friday, Sept. 3.

To obtain a nomination form or more information, call Michael Cary at the Loyola Family Business Center at (312) 915-7738. Nominations may be mailed to the Loyola Family Business Center at 820 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago, IL 60611-9810, or faxed to (312) 915-6495.

types of services will be offered in the addition. Cichocki said a pool or massage services are being considered.

"We want to be interactive with the community," said Cichocki.

Cichocki said the development will be highly beneficial to Gurnee and surrounding areas. Approximately 42 people have already signed up to be members, with many people coming from neighboring communities such as Mundelein, Wadsworth and Zion.

"Gurnee will now have a state-of-the-art facility which is close to home that everyone can enjoy," said Cichocki. "It's got everything you can imagine."

The atmosphere will be family oriented, with less emphasis on body-building than other Gold's Gym locations have had.

"We want more emphasis on family programs," said Cichocki. "We know Gurnee is a family community."

The facility will also help serve as a catalyst for other businesses to move into the area.

"It's an attractive quarter for other businesses who want to move in. This is an area we can serve well," said Cichocki. "Here [in Gurnee], there isn't anything like a Gold's Gym. We offer something good and unique."

Gold's Gym is currently accepting new members. The current rates are $19 to $24 per month, with a $99 enrollment fee. After the grand opening, the per-month fee will increase to $39. For membership information, call 662-4600.

Currently, pre-grand opening specials are being held at the Gurnee Holiday Inn, Cichocki said. Visitors can view a representation of the equipment as well as artwork which will be featured once Gold's Gym opens in October.

Inacomp expands service

Inacomp Computer Systems of Gurnee, Lake County's largest business-to-business computer company, announced the addition of three new employees, Lorin Lazer, David Smith and Tom Rowan.

Smith joins Inacomp as a software support technician. His professional experience includes Visiontek, where David tested a broad range of computer brands in his position as senior technician. The Microsoft Certified Professional also has a strong background in customers service and really understands the needs of end-users who turn to Inacomp for Software Support. David and wife Cindy have one child and resides in Round Lake Beach.

Lazer is Inacomp's newest corporate sales consultant. Lorin is an A+ Certified Technician and is also a Microsoft Certified Professional. He is a graduate of the University of Iowa. Lorin and wife Diane have two children and live in Gurnee.

Rowan is service coordinator. Tom is a life-long resident of the Waukegan and is a 1996 graduate of Waukegan High School.

TeraBridge appoints leader for software

Baumgart named to top position

TeraBridge Technologies Corp., Gurnee, leading developer of call and connection control software for broadband networks, announced three executives have joined the company to lead its software development, engineering, and product development and support environment.

They are Jim Baumgart, vice president of software development; Victor Ochy-Pang, vice president of engineering; and Don Swartz, vice president of product development and support.

Baumgart will develop TeraBridge's technology to ensure the company's software offerings are strategic and meet future and current business trends.

Ochy-Pang will lead IT, testing, quality assurance, and systems engineering and integration to ensure TeraBridge is meeting the primary engineering requirements for the company's internal and external constituents.

Swartz will ensure that TeraBridge's products are meeting customer expectations in terms of functionality, usability, service support and training. He brings 16 years of engineering and operations experience from Sprint Corp.

Habitat for Humanity, joined by Coldwell Banker Residential Brokerage, broke ground to build a new home for Carlos, Lilia, America and Grecia Vera.

TAYLOR: Marketing tips to help you set sale

• Deliver real value. I often tell the audiences at my workshops and seminars that I have no desire to be the low-price leader as a professional speaker. Trying to compete on price alone is like seeing who can lean over the bridge railing the furthest without falling in the water. I'll leave price-cutting to great swimmers.

I'll take the high value road. I much prefer the high price and great value approach. My goal is to deliver great content, in a creative manner, with confidence every time I step to the front of the room as a professional speaker.

• Keep your promises. An empty promise is a surefire way to runoff customers. Don't deliver to my ears, put it in my hands. Want to satisfy customers? Keep your promises. Want to win a customer for life, under promise, over deliver.

Spinal exam pilot program will benefit the MDA, local patients

On July 26, Dr. Michael Duzey of the Vernon Hills Chiropractic Clinic launched a new pilot program in collaboration with the Muscular Dystrophy Association to benefit local patients with neuromuscular disease and their families. From now until Labor Day weekend, Duzey will waive his regular $150 to $200 spinal exam fee in exchange for a minimum donation to the MDA of $25 or more from patients receiving the exam.

The consultation includes a computerized spinal and chiropractic exam as well as any necessary spinal x-rays that many patients also need. Proceeds will go directly to the MDA North Shore, which serves about 500 patients and their families in the Lake County and North Shore area.

"We're trying to make people more familiar with muscular dystrophy and take better care of their own spinal conditions," said Duzey. "By helping themselves, they can help others." Duzey has been providing excellence in family care at his Vernon Hills Chiropractic Clinic for more than 16 years. He says he hopes the recently initiated pilot program will translate to other chiropractic clinics in the area, perhaps even becoming "one of several unique programs the MDA spearheads at the national level."

Duzey is a member of the Illinois

Chiropractic Society and the American Chiropractic Association and works several hundred patients in the area. When a close friend of his was diagnosed with muscular dystrophy, Duzey became more familiar with the condition and wanted to work with the community to educate others about the disease. "I decided that if I could help the community in any way, I would do so," Duzey says of his recent partnership with the MDA.

Duzey has a long-standing commitment to serving others within the community. He has worked with the Chicago Food Depository for more than 10 years, collecting upwards of 1,200 pounds of food and canned goods for the organization. As a physician, he has also traveled to Ecuador and regions of South America, donating his time and effort to work with the Indian populations near the Amazon basin.

DRUG: 3 plead guilty to distribution

Earlier this month, Rader pleaded guilty to a charge of unlawful delivery of a controlled substance before Lake County Circuit Court Judge Barbara Gilleran-Johnson and was sentenced to seven years in the Illinois Department of Corrections.

However, Rader petitioned the judge for incarceration in minimum security boot camp, and the petition was granted. If he is accepted into the boot camp by the DOC and successfully completes the four to six month program, he will not have to serve the prison term.

On July 22, Crawford also entered a guilty plea before Judge Gilleran-Johnson to a charge of possession of controlled substance with intent to deliver. He was sentenced to four years probation, 18 months home confinement, ordered to perform 200 hours of public service, as well as to testify truthfully in future cases if called.

Brothers, meanwhile, pleaded guilty on July 19 to unlawful delivery of a controlled substance and was sentenced to six years in prison, with no opportunity for boot camp.

Castellano is still awaiting a Sept. 7 trial date.

The Lake County State's Attorney's Office, along with the Illinois Attorney General's Office, jointly prosecuted the case.

Jim Simonian, chief of the drug prosecuting division for the Lake County State's Attorney's Office, said he is pleased with the successful convictions of three of the defendants thus far.

"This was the largest (seizure) involving this drug in Lake County. We are happy with the prosecution, which has led to the so far successful prosecution of these defendants," he said.

Simonian said there have not been many other incidents involving GHB in the county but law enforcement will rigorously pursue any individuals who use or distribute the drug.

"We believe the distribution of GHB can lead to other crimes and overdoses and that is why these cases must be taken seriously," he said.

The arrests earlier this year were the result of a three-week undercover investigation conducted by the Cook and Lake County Metropolitan Enforcement Groups, in conjunction with the Antioch and the Gurnee police departments.

The arrests occurred after Castellano allegedly met undercover agents at Gurnee Mills Jan. 14 and sold them 4.5 gallons of GHB for $1,500. The street value of the drug sold to the police was estimated at $55,000. Rader accompanied Castellano to Gurnee Mills to complete the sale.

Following the arrests of Castellano and Rader, police executed a search warrant at Crawford's home in Antioch. They found three gallons of liquid GHB, with an estimated value of $30,000, along with other items, according to previous reports.

On Jan. 15, police arrested Kenosha resident Brothers in the parking lot of the Dominos Pizza in Zion. He was found to be in possession of a half gallon of GHB, along with 10,000 dosage units of anabolic steroids, reports said.

TRUST: Volo Bog protected area will grow sponsor, said.

The four-year program will create $160 million total, $40 million over the next four years. It will begin with the 2000 budget.

Ryan thanked the bi-partisan support the legislation received in the State House of Representatives and the Senate.

Currently, Illinois was able to allocate only $3 million for acquisition of natural areas, 48th among the 50 states.

People support the acquisition of open space.

"There was referendums for schools, jails, and open space, but the only one which passed were the ones for open space," Ryan said.

"Illinois faces a dilemma. We have had a 4 percent increase in population, but there is 51 percent less land available for public acquisition. Money that used to be available through real estate taxes has been bonded out," Ryan said.

He said the places like Volo Bog, with the state's only "quaking bog", with marshes, restored prairies, woodlands and two additional bogs on 900-acres was "threatened by development". We absolutely have to protect the open space. Many local governments have identified open space parcels, but funding has been scarce," Ryan said. "This bill will change all that."

The Volo Bog is a great resource from bird watchers to educational field trips.

Jim Rogers, who just happened to be at Volo Bog Wednesday morning, agreed.

"It is a great facility. Preserving open space is important, especially in western Lake County. It is great for education and the quality of life," Rogers said.

Lake County Forest Preserve President Carol Calebreasa (R-Libertyville) said the trust is a "fantastic partnership" with the Lake County Forest Preserve's $65 million approved referendum.

Under Ryan's program, land would be acquired by the state and local governments would be from willing sellers only.

State Rep. Mark Beaubien (R-Wauconda) and State Sen. Bill Peterson (R-Long Grove) were also on hand and thanked for their efforts to pass the legislation.

Registration held at Ela and Vernon area libraries

Two days of on-site registration will be conducted at Ela and Vernon area libraries for College of Lake County's fall classes. Registration will be accepted from 4 to 7 p.m. on Aug. 3 and 12 at Ela area library, 135 Buesching Rd., Lake Zurich; and Aug. 4 and 9 at Vernon area library, 300 Olde Half Day Rd., Lincolnshire. Students can register for both credit and non-credit classes. The fall semester will begin Aug. 23. For information, call 543-2285.

POLL: Leaf burning ban opposed cially my neighbors that have the huge lots," the resident said. "They would need hundreds of bags. The oak leaves don't disintegrate."

One Wauconda resident vowed to continue to burn even if a ban were enacted: "The bottom line here is that if this law goes into effect I will continue to burn my leaves. I guarantee you that a citation or a fine from the village would be cheaper than paying to remove the amount of leaves and dead branches that I have."

Not all respondents were opposed to a ban, however.

A man who lives in the Country-side Manor subdivision north of Libertyville supports a leaf burning ban. He said the smell of smoke from leaf burning can sometimes be overwhelming.

"We have 250 homes here. There's nothing worse than going outside to relax in our nice yards and have to smell smoke. At least with cigarettes you can walk away."

Other supporters of a ban cited health reasons. A Wildwood woman said her family suffers from respiratory problems and says they cannot go outdoors because of smoke from leaf burning.

"We all suffer from upper respiratory allergies, and the minute we step outside with the constant leaf burning in the fall, we can't breathe. We have even had neighbors burning in the spring and summer. So we are confined to our house as prisoners," said the letter, signed "A Family Looking for Clean Air."

A few of the letters called for a compromise which would allow burning during certain times of the year.

One woman from unincorporated Newport Township said she could live with some restrictions on the times when people are allowed to burn, as long as there wasn't an outright ban.

"I compost and recycle but, please, I need a few days to burn. I believe there can be a restricted ban worked out, not a total ban."

And so the leaf burning debate continues to rage on.

The Lake County Board is expected to make a decision in September on whether to ban or restrict burning in the county.

A public informational meeting of the County Board's Health and Human Services Committee was held July 28 on the proposed ban at the Grass Lake School gym in Antioch.

The final public meeting is scheduled from 7 to 9 p.m. Aug. 4 at Grant Community High School in Fox Lake.

PUBLIC NOTICE ORDINANCE NO. 99-6-3

WHEREAS, the State of Illinois has enacted "An Act regulating wages of laborers, mechanics and other workmen employed in any public works by the State, County, City or any public body of any political subdivision or by any one under contract for public work", approved June 26, 1941, as amended, being Section 130.01 thru 130.12, Chapter 820, Illinois Revised Statutes, 1992, and

WHEREAS, the aforesaid Act required that the Round Lake Area Park District of County of Lake investigate and ascertain the prevailing rate of Wages as defined in said Act for laborers, mechanics, and other workmen in the locality of the County of Lake employed in performing construction of public works, for said Round Lake Area Park District.

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED BY THE PRESIDENT AND BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS OF THE ROUND LAKE AREA PARK DISTRICT:

SECTION 1: To the extent and as required by "An Act regulating wages of laborers, mechanics and other workmen employed in any public works by the State, County or any public body of any political subdivision or by any one under contract for public work", approved June 26, 1941, as amended, the general prevailing rate of wages in this locality for laborers, mechanics and other workmen engaged in the construction of public works coming under the jurisdiction of Park District is hereby ascertained to be the same as the prevailing rate of wages for construction work in Lake County area as determined by the Department of Labor of the State of Illinois as of June, 1998, a copy of that determination being attached hereto and incorporated herein by reference. The definition of any terms appearing in this Ordinance which are also used in aforesaid Act shall be the same as in said Act.

SECTION 2: Nothing herein contained shall be construed to apply said general prevailing rate of wages as herein ascertained to any work or employment except public works construction of this Park District to the extent required by the aforesaid Act.

SECTION 3: The Round Lake Area Park District Secretary shall publicly post or keep available for inspection by any interested party in the main office of this Park District this determination of such prevailing rate of wage.

SECTION 4: The Round Lake Area Park District Secretary shall mail a copy of this determination to any employer, and to any association of employers and to any person or association of employees who have filed, or file their names and addresses requesting copies of any determination stating the particular rates and the particular class of workmen whose wages will be affected by such rates.

SECTION 5: The Round Lake Area Park District Secretary shall promptly file a certified copy of this ordinance with both the Secretary of the State and the Department of Labor of the State of Illinois.

SECTION 6: The Round Lake Area Park District Secretary shall cause to be published in a newspaper of general circulation within the area a copy of this Ordinance, and such publication shall constitute notice that the determination is effective and that this is the determination of this public body.

CLC DIGEST

CLC Course explores the Middle East

A multimedia course on "Middle Eastern Civilizations" (HUM 128) will go beyond the media headlines and examine the religious and philosophical values held in the Middle East.

Two sections of the three-credit hour course will be offered: A day section, HUM 128-001, will meet from 10 to 10:50 a.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays beginning Aug. 23, and an evening section, HUM 128-002, will meet from 7 to 9:45 p.m. on Wednesdays beginning Aug. 25 at the Grayslake Campus.

The class will be taught by philosophy instructor Stephen Infantino who spent a sabbatical in the Middle East and developed the course curriculum. The course content will include on-site interviews with educators, religious leaders and the people of the region. Students will learn about the religious concepts and values held in the Middle East and how those values are expressed in art, craftsmanship, architecture, music, film and literature. Students will also learn about the current political, economic and gender issues in the Middle East. The course will fulfill the humanities general education requirement and will transfer under the Illinois Articulation Initiative agreement.

The course is supported by a grant from the United States Information Agency and the American Center for Oriental Research. The tuition and fees for the course is $159. To register by phone, call 223-1111. For course information, call Infantino at 543-2560.

Dance scholarship available

The financial aid office at the College of Lake County is accepting applications for the Heritage Dance Scholarship. The $500 scholarship is open to students who are pursuing an associate of arts degree in theatre.

Funds can be used for tuition, fees and books in the fall 1999 semester. Applicants must be enrolled in at least six credit hours with a minimum 2.0 grade point average. Interested students must submit a CLC scholarship application and an essay describing their educational goals.

Applications are available in the financial aid office, B114. For information, call 223-2062.

Medical Office specialist certificate offered

Beginning this fall, the College of Lake County will offer a medical office specialist certificate, a new option in the college's health information technology program. The 21 credit hour certificate is designed to provide students with the knowledge and skills needed to work in the front office of a physician's practice or a clinic.

Medical office specialists perform such duties as scheduling appointments, arranging hospital tests and surgery, protecting the confidentiality of patient records, transcribing letters and medical reports and maintaining accurate records.

Students must complete nine courses to receive the certificate. These are Medical Terminology (HIT 111), Medical Transcription (HIT 112), Ethical/Legal Aspects of Medical Records (HIT 113), Pharmacology (HIT 119, and Administrative Office Procedures (BSS 214), Automated Office systems (BSS 112) and Typing Speed and Accuracy Building (BSS 175). Most of these classes will be offered in the fall semester, which begins the week of Aug. 23.

The demand for medical secretaries is expected to rise faster than average, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics' Occupational Outlook Handbook.

For more information on the program, call Margaret Kryiakos, an instructor of health information technology, at 543-2879.

How To Survive The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Q: I have been working with (name withheld) for the past 5 months and recently asked my employer for a few weeks off to care for my mom's brother who had just gotten out of the hospital. Mom could not care for him because she had to work, as did dad. My uncle has another brother and sister who both live out of state, so I figured that I could handle the job. I understand there is a family leave act that was passed allowing a person the necessary time off to care for a sick family member without losing your job, pay or benefits. My problem is my company called me after the first day of being gone and said they were letting me go. They told me the reason was due to inadequate attendance, even though they knew that I was caring for a sick uncle. The only thing they offered me when I left was that I could continue to pay my own insurance through their (COBRA) plan. My mom and I are thinking of hiring an attorney to file a suit for wrongful dismissal. I know people write to you all the time with their problems and I would appreciate whatever you could do, or any advice you could give. Thank you. J.P.-Lindenhurst

A: In speaking with the parties involved on your behalf, it became known that a 40-hour weekly attendance was not high on your list of priorities. In fact your company had already put you under an attendance probation 6 weeks before. You may want to rethink your phone call to the lawyer. Per your former employer... "5 months working for a company does not meet the requirements of the "Family Leave Act." That's strike one! Caring for your sick uncle under the circumstances would also not fall under the guidelines for the Family Leave Act. Strike two. According to your former employer their company does not fall into the required number employees mandatory for instituting this act. Strike three! Obviously in a time of need one does not always know when an emergency will arise where one would need to activate this "Family Leave".

In your case however, the story of your uncle that no one had ever heard you mention came from out of the blue. A company suffers the additional pressures in the absence of its employees. Yours came without warning and a voice mail message stating that you needed the time off. It most likely occurred to your employer that, while this time your heart may have been in the right place, your previous track record for reporting to work was not. Voice mail was not the proper way to communicate your dilemma. Your employer decided that in your absence, you would be replaced... permanently. Keep in mind that while although anyone can sue anyone, winning or losing is the gamble you take. Perhaps you should save your money on legal fees since it is apparent that the company has a strong leg to stand on, based on past performance. Better you should concentrate your efforts on finding a new job to support yourself and purchase an alarm clock that will assist you in getting to your new employer on time. Good Luck.
